Threaten Public Inquest

Doctor Is Stalling, Irked Officials Say

CLEVELAND (U)—Angry county officials threatened today to call a public inquest unless they are allowed to question Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard about the slaying of his attractive, 31-year-old wife.

Coroner Samuel H. Gerber issued 15 subpoenas in blank for an inquest and said they would be served if further delay is encountered in quizzing the injured osteopathic neuro-surgeon.

At the same time, county detective Carl Rossbach, who is assisting Dr. Gerber, said:

"I do not want to take advantage of a man, confined to a bed, but it has been five days now since this crime was committed and we still haven't been able to talk with Dr. Sheppard except for brief questioning shortly after the murder."

The 30-year-old physician has been confined to a suburban hospital, operated by his father, since his wife, Marilyn, was found bludgeoned to death in her bed Sunday.

In his brief talk with investigating officers, he gave only a vague account of the murder. He said his injuries were suffered in battling with his wife's assailant.

Charges Stalling

Assistant County Prosecutor John J. Mahon said the probe has "bogged down" because of "stalling by the Sheppard family."

"We're not going to stand for it any longer," the official added.

Both Rossbach and the coroner pointed out that although they were unable to talk with Dr. Sheppard, he attended his wife's funeral yesterday and later had a string of visitors at the hospital. These included reporters and photographers, Otto Graham, professional football star for the Cleveland Browns, and two attorneys assisting the Sheppard family.

Dr. Sheppard was wheeled into the white marble-walled chapel at Knollwood Mausoleum yesterday to sit before his wife's bronze casket.

He wore a leather and metal brace on his neck and appeared weak and shaken as he heard the Rev. Alfred C. Kreke, pastor of Bay Methodist Church, intone the rites.

Union Orders 23,000 Out at Goodyear Co.

First Strike in Eight Years Follows Fruitless Contract Negotiations

CINCINNATI (U)—A breakdown in contract negotiations today brought the first strike in eight years to plants of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co.

The CIO United Rubber Workers directed its 23,000 members in Goodyear plants to quit work in 10 cities at midnight last night.

First reports that the strike actually was in effect came from plants in Akron and St. Marys, Ohio; Muncie, Ind.; Los Angeles; Toledo, Kan.; Lincoln, Neb.; and Gadsden, Ala.

At the company headquarters in Akron, 13,000 workers went on strike. Pickets were posted at all plants and production was halted immediately.

Other plants are at Jackson, Mich.; New Bedford, Mass. and Windsor, Ont.

Negotiations broke up here last night after both sides refused to yield in a dispute over a wage increase. The company held fast to its offer of a pay boost of 5 cents an hour. The union insisted that was not sufficient and did not make corrections sought in wage

Elyria Gives In, Votes To Drop Turnpike Fight

Council Action Ends Bitter 2½ Year War Over Right of Way

ELYRIA, Ohio (U)—City council here last night voted 5-4 to drop court action now pending against the Ohio Turnpike Commission. The truce ends a bitter year-old battle over right-of-way within the city.

The city's opposition had threatened to hold up scheduled completion of the 241-mile Northern Ohio Turnpike. Completion date has been set for Oct. 1, 1955.

City officials wanted the toll road routed out of town while the commission said it would be too costly to change its plans. Officials here said the turnpike would hamper future city expansion.

Four miles of the turnpike will run through the city.

The council vote ending the dispute came after five days of negotiations between the commission and the city. But one councilman, Warren L. Robinson Jr., who voted to end court action, still claims Elyria is getting a "salvage deal."

The arrangement agreed to by council provides that the city will vacate portions of three streets, eliminating the necessity of the

Atomic Strike Fact-Finding Panel Named

Cleveland Heads 3-Man Investigating Board Picked by Ike

WASHINGTON (U)—President Eisenhower today named a three-member fact finding board to investigate the strike of 4,500 atomic energy plant workers. The board began its inquiry at once.

Appointment of the board, headed by former atomic energy commissioner Thomas K. Glennan, is a major step toward ending walkouts at the Oak Ridge, Tenn. and Paducah, Ky., plants which threaten production of the vital ingredient for atomic and hydrogen bombs.

Action To Follow Report

The government can apply for a court order halting the walkout as soon as the board makes its report.

Under a presidential order the board has until July 20 to complete its inquiry but White House counsel Bernard M. Shanley told reporters the report undoubtedly would be completed long before then.

There was unofficial speculation the government would seek an injunction by the end of this week.

Others Named

Named to the board with Glennan, who now is president of Case Institute of Technology in Cleveland, were:

John A. Floborg of Washington, D. C., Assistant Secretary of the Navy for Air from 1949 to 1953; Paul H. Sanders of Nashville, Tenn., professor of law at Vanderbilt University and a former regional attorney for the labor department.

The White House announced

Walkout Fails To Halt Output Of Vital U-235

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. (U)—The nation's entire output of uranium-235, vital for atomic bombs, continued to be produced today by company workers at plants here and at Paducah, Ky., despite a strike by 4,500 CIO chemical workers.

The union posted picket lines early yesterday at the two plants after President Eisenhower had urged them to stay on the job until a fact-finding board could look into the wage dispute with Carbide and Carbon Chemicals Co., operator of the plants for the Atomic Energy Commission.

May Act Today

Meanwhile, it was indicated in Washington the government might go to court for an injunction, perhaps today.

The union is demanding a 15-cent hourly wage increase for its 3,500 workers here and 1,000 more at Paducah. The company has offered a 6-cent hourly boost retroactive to April 15. Wages now range from $1.58 to $2.40 hourly.

AFL Unions on Job

As the orderly picketing continued last night, Jess Harnon, president of the rival AFL Atomic Trades and Labor Council, urged Eisenhower to name an impartial arbitration board. Harnon suggested the board be "binding upon both sides."

His council represents 4,500 workers in two other atomic plants here.

The CIO union has made no attempt to block workers from their jobs, and AFL workers, as well as thousands of construction workers, streamed across the picket lines today.

Temperature Dips To Cool 50 Here

The mercury dipped to a refreshing 50 degrees last night after a gentle rain fell at intervals throughout the day yesterday.

High temperature recorded for Wednesday was 74 and the rain fall totaled .22 of an inch. A year ago, the maximum temperature reading was 83 and the minimum 64.

The forecast for tonight is again fair and cool and the low is expected to be between 48 and 56.

Some cloudiness is expected Friday with warmer temperatures in the afternoon.

JET PLANE CRASHES INTO HOUSE. A wheel and part of the fuselage (left foreground) of an F-84 Air Force jet plane, lies in the yard of a house which the craft struck in a residential area on the northwest edge of the business district of Kansas City, Kan. The plane, just off the assembly line and flown by an Air Force pilot, crashed into one house, bounced across the street and set fire to three other homes. Four persons, including the pilot, were killed. The plane, built at the General Motors plant in Kansas City, was being delivered to an undisclosed Air Force base.

Laborers Here Vote To Strike For Pay Boost

Carpenters Already Out; Bricklayers Settle With Builders

A threatened strike of laborers added to a walkout of carpenters now in progress loomed in Marion today as another round of wage increase demands moved into full swing.

Already agreed to by most local building contractors is a demand for a 10-cent an hour increase on the part of bricklayers in the city.

Carpenters went on strike against at least three local contractors last week. They are asking for an increase of 25 cents per hour, which would make the local rate $3.00 per hour.

Laborers were reported to have voted at a meeting held Wednesday night to go on strike Monday unless contractors agree to their demands for an increase which would amount to 17½ cents per hour over a two-year period.

Laborers want an increase of two and one-half cents per hour effective July 1 and increases of five cents per hour effective Nov. 1 and 10 cents per hour starting next July 1.

At present laborers in Marion are receiving $2.07½ per hour. The proposed increase would lead to a wage of $2.25 over the two-year period.

Already on strike are members of the Carpenters Local 976. About 18 men are on strike at various jobs around town. Contractors affected are Steward Construction Co., Baldau Construction Co., and Stumbo Construction Co.

If the proposed laborers' strike takes effect, it would put about 30 more men on strike.

Two Charges of Perjury Against Lattimore Killed

WASHINGTON (U)—The U.S. Court of Appeals today upheld the dismissal of two perjury charges against Owen Lattimore, including the key count, but ordered two other counts reinstated.

The court agreed with U.S. Dist. Judge Luther W. Youngdahl that the key count, charging Lattimore swore falsely when he said he was not a Communist sympathizer or promoter of Communist causes, was invalid.

The court also upheld dismissal of a charge that Lattimore committed perjury when he told the Senate Internal Security subcommittee that it was not necessary for him to have the permission of Communist authorities for a visit to Yenan, then the Communist stronghold in China, and that he made no prearrangements with

Dulles Stands Firm U.S. Would Invoke Veto on Red China

WASHINGTON (U)—Secretary of State Dulles said today the United States would use its veto, if necessary, to keep Red China out of the U.N. Security Council.

Dulles expressed complete confidence the Red China regime would be unable to gain admittance at the fall session to any of the principal U.N. organizations, including the assembly.

Denounces Regime

At a news conference, Dulles denounced the Peiping regime for flouting the United Nations in Korea, supporting the Communists in Indochina and generally failing to fulfill international obligations.

Dulles said "firmly, in answer to questions, he did not believe there would be any occasion for the United States to withdraw from the United Nations if Red China is admitted, as Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) has proposed."

Talk of pulling out of the United Nations, he said, strikes a note of defeatism which is entirely unjustified because the United States and like-minded countries have a powerful case for blocking Red China's membership.

Knowland Cooling

President Eisenhower said yesterday he is "completely and unalterably opposed under the present situation to the admission of Red China to the United Nations."

His stand was believed to have warded off likelihood of any early Senate action to put Congress on record with formal notice of American withdrawal if Red China should be admitted, as suggested by Knowland.

Knowland himself has been cooling on his idea and Sen. George (D-Ga.) said in an interview he

PUCO Refuses To Boost Pay Station Rates

COLUMBUS, Ohio (U)—The state utilities commission today denied an application by seven Ohio telephone companies to raise their pay station rates from 5 cents to 10 cents a call.

The commission said they did not prove their case.

The companies are: The Warren Telephone Co., The Elyria Telephone Co., The Conneaut Telephone Co., The Mansfield Telephone Co., The Delta Home Telephone Co., The Fulton County, The General Telephone Co. of Marion and The Chillicothe Telephone Co.

The companies said the present semi-public telephone rates were discriminatory and unjustly preferential. In a consolidated application a spokesman for the seven companies said $5.8 per cent of Ohio pay stations charged the 10-cent rate. He said only 4.2 per cent charged the five-cent rate.

Daniel W. DeHays, secretary-treasurer of the Ohio Independent Telephone Assn., said the differences in rates caused confusion among telephone users. He said there were 37,278 pay stations in Ohio requiring 10 cents for calls and 1,840 pay stations requiring five cents.

There were no protests filed before the commission on the rate increase application.

The commission, in denying the application, overruled a report by Atty.-Examiner C. Howard Johnson Jr. who had recommended the increase be granted.

WASHINGTON (U)—The U.S. Court of Appeals today upheld the dismissal of two perjury charges against Owen Lattimore, including the key count, but ordered two other counts reinstated.

The court agreed with U.S. Dist. Judge Luther W. Youngdahl that the key count, charging Lattimore swore falsely when he said he was not a Communist sympathizer or promoter of Communist causes, was invalid.

Lolita Lebron Gets Term of 16-50 Years

3 Companions Given 25 to 75-Year Stretch; All Four Voice Protest

WASHINGTON (U)—Four Puerto Rican terrorists who shot up the House of Representatives March 1 and wounded five of its members today were given maximum prison sentences ranging up to 75 years.

A fiery brunette, Lolita Lebron, 34, self-styled leader of the group, received a sentence of from 16 years, 8 months, to 50 years.

Feels Maximum Justified

Her three male companions received sentences of from 25 to 75 years each.

U.S. District Judge Alexander Holtzoff said he felt maximum sentences were justified because the crime was "so heinous, so infamous, so daring and so atrocious as to shock the conscience of the nation."

The longer sentences for the three men resulted from the fact that a jury convicted them last month on five charges each of assault with intent to kill and five charges each of assault with a dangerous weapon.

Mrs. Lebron was convicted only on five charges of assault with a dangerous weapon.

Before hearing their sentences, the four Puerto Ricans protested anew that they merely staged a demonstration in behalf of Puerto Rican independence, and did not intend to kill anyone.

Protest Incessant

In their own minds, the Puerto Ricans said, they did not feel they were guilty of any crime.

Judge Holtzoff took a different view. He called the pistol attack on the House "dastardly, wicked and ruthless." Except for the skillful work of surgeons, the judge said, the Puerto Ricans would have been before him to hear death sentences, instead of sentences on lesser charges.

Lawyers for the Puerto Ricans said in advance of the sentencing they would file notices of appeal.

The three men, convicted June 17 and sentenced with Mrs. Lebron, were: Rafael Cancel Miranda, 28; Andres Figueroa Cordero, 28; and Irving Flores Rodriguez, 28.

JUDITH ANN ROBERTS
Victim of Kidnap-Slaying

Police Step Up Investigation of Kidnap-Killing

Leads Reported as 30 Are Quizzed in Brutal Slaying of 7-Year-Old

MIAMI, Fla. (U)—Moving swiftly to crack the brutal kidnap-murder of 7-year-old Judith Ann Roberts, homicide detectives grilled more than 30 men during the night and early today reported "very good leads."

Still to be questioned were about 40 more known sex perverts and child molesters rounded up since the body of the blue-eyed child was found yesterday, within sight of Miami's City Hall.

'Work 'Round Clock'

"We will work around the clock until this vicious slayer is in jail," said Detective Lt. Chester Eldredge, head of the homicide bureau, who is directing the investigation.

The FBI said it had no investigative jurisdiction in the case because the child's body was not taken across state lines.

Judith Ann, daughter of a Baltimore lawyer and labor leader, was raped and murdered and her body left in a palm-tree thicket off fashionable South Bayshore Drive, a few miles south of downtown Miami.

Seized While Sleeping

Five hours earlier she had been taken in her sleep from the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rosenberg, about 2½ miles away in Miami's southwest section. She had been strangled, beaten on the head and criminally assaulted. A night gown had been ripped from her body.

One piece of the garment and a handkerchief were tied tightly around her throat. What appeared to be a venetian blind cord held her hands tied behind her back. Her eyes were swollen shut.

The victim's 3-year-old sister Betty told police in the presence of a reporter that a "colored man" had talked to her and Judith on the street Tuesday. A neighbor said she saw two Negro gardeners who worked at the Rosenbergs talking to the children on several occasions.

The children and their parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Roberts, arrived Sunday night from Baltimore for their annual two weeks visit with the Rosenbergs, parents of Mrs. Roberts.

Molotov Back In Switzerland

GENEVA (U)—Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov returned to the Indochina conference today. His arrival promised a step-up in the negotiations for a cease-fire in the war which for nearly eight years has ravaged the French territory in the Far East.

The Russian was the first of the major diplomats to return to the parley which they left two and a half weeks ago after it settled down to negotiations between military representatives on details of a ceasefire.

Other key figures also were expected to return soon.

French Premier Pierre Mendes-France, who is acting as his country's foreign minister, announced in the National Assembly yesterday he would go to Geneva soon to take personal charge of the French delegation.

Czechs Get Protest

Immediate Release of 7 U.S. Soldiers Demanded

WASHINGTON (U)—The United States has served Red Czechoslovakia with a brusque demand for the "immediate return" of seven U.S. soldiers who this government charged were kidnapped last Sunday.

The State Department disclosed last night that an exceptionally stiff note was delivered to the Czech Foreign Office in Prague yesterday.

That note dismissed as unfounded Czech claims that the seven—a captain and six enlisted men—were spying when they were seized by a Czech border patrol near the West German town of Baunau July 4.

But a few hours after the U. S. note was handed to Czech diplomatic officials, the Communist satellite government repeated its espionage charge in a Prague radio broadcast heard in Vienna. The U.S. note, protesting "in the strongest terms this abduction of American soldiers," said the Americans "were proceeding innocently without arms along the (Czech-German) border... when they were seized by a Czech patrol."

The Army withheld public identification of the soldiers pending notification of next of kin but the Czechoslovak news agency Ceteka, contacted by telephone in Prague today from Vienna, named them as Capt. Jack Davis, Pvt. Richard Jumper, Pfc. Leonard Tammis, Cpl. John Glasson, Pvt. Ross McGinnis, Pfc. George Switzer and Pfc. Jerry Griffith. Ceteka could give no home addresses.

Officer's Memory For Faces Leads To Murder Arrest

BOSTON (U)—Because of a detective's memory for faces, Jacob Heim, 21, of Boston, was in custody today on a murder charge.

Police Capt. Francis Shney said Heim admitted fatally knifing Donald Ensell, 26, of Jefferson, Ohio, a truck driver, in an early morning street fight yesterday at Tremont and Warrenton Sts. Shney said Heim told him the fight started after Ensell made insulting remarks to Heim and two friends.

Special officer Thomas F. Cunningham's memory solved the case. He read a description of the knife wielder and recalled that a man of the same description was with a juvenile he had questioned early on July 4. Cunningham located the juvenile and got from him the name and address of his companion. Ensell was stabbed seven times, once in the heart, with a pen knife. The weapon was recovered from a sewer.

Supersonic Dental Drill Likely To Be Welcome Invention

NEW YORK (AP)—A new supersonic dental drill, claimed to be virtually painless and almost noiseless, may be available in dentists' offices within several years.

The device, shaped like a miniature riveting machine, was demonstrated yesterday at the Columbus-Fresbyterian Medical Center.

The actual drilling is done by an abrasive liquid dripped to the edge of the drill, which vibrates at 29,000 times per second.

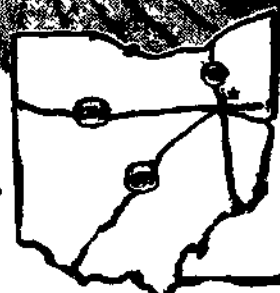

Commercial production of the new tool is at least a year away, and dental schools and clinics will get it first.

Work, Sleep, Play In Comfort

Without Naggng Backache

Naggng backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness may be due to slow-down of kidney function. Doctors say good kidney function is very important to good health. When some everyday condition, such as stress and strain, causes this important function to slow down, many folks suffer nagging backache—feel miserable. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause retching up nights or frequent passages. Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Godfrey Denies Plans To Break Up TV Troupe

NEW YORK (AP)—The Arthur Godfrey and his Friends Wednesday night television show is going to take an eight weeks vacation. The TV star announced it on his weekly show last night while denying rumors that the show was breaking up.

Asserting that he had heard rumors all day yesterday that the troupe was being disbanded, Godfrey denied it emphatically, but said the show's cast would begin a vacation after the July 14 appearance on CBS-TV.

Meanwhile, the Boston Record carried a story by TV editor Joseph M. Purcell saying Godfrey would break up the troupe because of dissatisfaction with soprano Marion Marlowe and because of personal plans of another singer on the program.

The second singer was identified by the paper as Lu Ann Simms, whose engagement recently was announced.

The Record quoted an unidentified CBS executive as saying "Marion is giving orders now, not taking them. She has refused to sing any more duets with Frank Parker. Godfrey has been deluged with mail from his listeners. They want those duets and they think Godfrey stopped them. But he didn't."

Parker and Miss Marlowe sang a duet last night.

Shooting Episode Suspect Released By Hardin Sheriff

KENTON — The top suspect in the shooting of Philip Wise, 62, who was wounded June 25 by an unknown assailant, was released Wednesday after a ballistic report was made to the Hardin County sheriff's department.

Sheriff Clarence Brown said that the report proved the .38 caliber revolver owned by the 46-year-old Columbus truck driver, who was taken into custody Saturday, was not the gun which shot Wise.

Meanwhile, Wise spent a restful night at the San Antonio Hospital and is "slightly improved," according to hospital attaches.

Announce Cutback

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—International Harvester Co.'s Louisville plant has announced another 20 per cent cut in production about July 19. From 350 to 400 employees will be laid off.

Total employment at the plant is now 2,900. Its peak was 7,200 in May, 1953.

Six-Run Explosion in Second Brings Tribe Victory

Feller Seeks Sixth Verdict In Finale Against Baltimore

CLEVELAND (U)—In their last three ball games, the Cleveland Indians have been able to score in only two innings. But the runs in those two frames added up to an impressive 17 and beat Baltimore twice.

Last night the Tribe defeated the Orioles 6-1, getting all its runs in the second inning. In the opener of the three-game series Tuesday night, Cleveland scored 11 runs in the first inning and won 11-3. In the second game of a double header at Detroit Monday the Indians were shut out, 1-0.

Bullet Bob Turley's wildness and Mike Garcia's speed and control decided last night's game, Cleveland's 10th victory in 11 games. This afternoon Bob Feller (5-1) huris for the home club against Lou Kretlow (2-4) in the last meeting of the two clubs until five weeks hence.

Early in the season Turley was rated one of the league's most promising hurlers, but he has run into control trouble. One of the Indians said afterward "looks like a guy who's lost his confidence."

In the six-run second inning, Turley walked the first two men, yielded Jim Hegan a single that drove home a run, walked the next two men, forcing home another, and then was rapped for a two-run double by Bob Avila.

Howard Fox came in at this point with none out and the Indians ahead 4-0. Two more runs came home on Larry Doby's single and Al Rosen's fly before the scoring ended.

Garcia had allowed only four singles, three of the m by Cal Abrams, when the Orioles spoiled his bid for his fifth shutout in the eighth. Abrams, once with the National League cellar-dwelling Pittsburgh Pirates, rapped his fourth single and went around on a single by Dick Kryhoski and Chuck Diering's long fly. That run ended a string of 23 scoreless innings Garcia had hurled against Baltimore. A ruptured blood vessel in the middle finger of his pitching hand caused Garcia to leave Sunday's game with Chicago in the second inning. The finger "began to swell up some in the eighth, and I decided I better get out of there," Garcia said after the game.

Pinch Hitter Gives Cards Win in 11th

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (U)—Peanuts Lowrey, who was traded away by Cincinnati a few years ago, rose up last night to haunt the Redlegs. Lowrey, nearing the end of a long career, blasted a bases-loaded pinch hit single in the 11th inning that gave the St. Louis Cardinals a 5-4 victory over the Rhinelanders.

It also wrecked some beautiful clutch pitching by Art Fowler.

The Cards had filled the bases with none out on Stan Musial's double, an intentional walk to Ray Jablonski and an infield single by Rip Repulski.

Fowler then started bearing down. He grabbed Joe Cunningham's tap and nailed Musial at the plate. He leaped high in the air and took Bill Sarni's bouncer and caught Jablonski at home. It looked as if he might be out of the woods but then came Lowrey and his single on the first ball pitched.

The result was that the Redlegs dropped 2½ games behind fourth place Milwaukee and they're now only a game ahead of the sixth place Cards.

The teams wind up their series tonight with Joe Nuxhall slated to pitch against Harvey Haddix.

Starter Fred Baczewski was removed in the third because of a pulled muscle in his pitching arm. Later, it was indicated the injury wasn't serious and that Baczewski would be able to take his regular turn on the mound.

The Reds got away in front last night on singles by Charlie Harmon, Gus Bell and Jim Greengrass but the Cards got it back quickly in the second on a walk to Cunningham and Sarni's double. Another walk set the stage for the Cards to pick up a run in the fourth off Corky Valentine and they scored two more in the sixth after the Reds had scored once in their half.

A double by Bell and a single by Ted Kluszewski produced the Cincinnati tally. The Cards got their pair on five hits, two of them bunt singles which Valentine could not handle. Both runs scored on a double by Red Schoendienst.

That St. Louis lead stood up until the eighth when the Redlegs nicked Brooks Lawrence, former Miami University student, for a pair of runs to tie the score and send the game into extra innings. Walks to Roy McMillan, Kluszewski, a double by Greengrass and a single by Johnny Temple accounted for the last two Cincinnati runs.

Lawrence bowed out in the eighth for a pinch hitter and Alpha Brazle came on to finish and get credit for the triumph.

Bill Current Wins

2 Heats at Hilliards

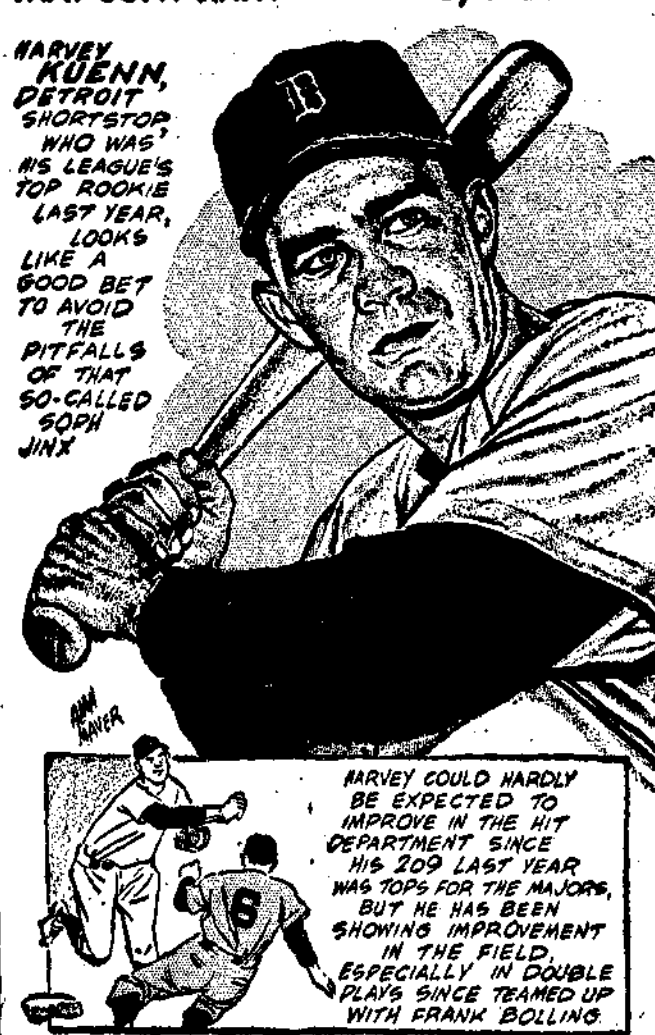

COLUMBUS, Ohio (U)—Bill Current of Wilmington, Ohio, drove Tower Light to win in both heats of the featured Home Talent Colt Stake last night at Hilliards Raceway.

Current's double win in the third and sixth race boosted his point total to 99, only two behind top driver William (Doc) McMillen of London, Ohio.

Tower Light paid $4.40 in the third and $2.60 in the sixth, both mile events for two-year-old pacers. Purses were $500 for each.

On a regulation baseball diamond, the pitcher's box is 60 feet 6 inches from home plate.

Attendance Sags

Philadelphia Faces Loss Of Athletics' Franchise

PHILADELPHIA (U)—Some 75 top leaders in Philadelphia met with Mayor Joseph S. Clark Jr. today to plot the future of American League baseball in the city where the Philadelphia Athletics once were synonymous with championship teams.

Meanwhile, interest among Philadelphia baseball fans stirred somewhat as the Athletics prepared to open a 17-game home stand.

It was reported that advance ticket sales have picked up considerably over the past few days. "One of our games with Cleveland has attracted such an advance that indications are we'll have as big a crowd as we did on opening day," a club spokesman said.

A crowd of 16,331 turned out to see the A's best Boston 6-4 April 13. "Understand, it is rather late to build high hopes around advance sales," the spokesman added, "but I will say that if tickets had gone all season the way, they have in the past few days, we would not be faced with such a problem now."

Roy and Earle Mack have been quoted as telling Clark, in an appeal for help from the city, that unless the A's can draw 400,000 fans in the club's remaining home games, the franchise will be moved or sold.

Clark last week announced today's meeting for the purpose of discussing ways and means of bolstering the A's attendance, which has totaled around 135,000 paid so far. Clark said he plans to form a committee to be known as the "Mayor's Committee to Keep the Athletics in Philadelphia."

It is understood that the Macks told Clark that several cities, including Minneapolis, Dallas, Kansas City and Houston, were after the A's franchise.

British Play Hits Sudden Death Stage

SOUTHPORT, England (U)—Nineteen golfers from 14 countries go out today in the second round of the British Open Championship—and poor rounds mean "sudden death" for 47 of them.

After today's play, the field is cut to the 50 low scorers. They compete over the final 36-holes Friday. First prize money is 750 pounds ($2,100).

The 57, including the six Americans left from an original squad of nine, are chasing two Englishmen—43-year-old Sam King and 42-year-old Bill Spence.

King and Spence shot record-equaling 69s in the first round yesterday on the breezy 6,837-yard par-73 Birkdale course to tie for the lead with a one-stroke margin over their closest rival.

Behind them in closest contention is Norman Sutton, an Englishman, with 70, and a trio of 71s by Antonio Cerdas of Argentina and Britain's George Howard and J. R. M. Jacobs.

The closest American challenger is Jim Turnesa of Briarcliff, N.Y., who played on the United States Ryder Cup team at Wentworth, England, last year, with a 72. Jimmy Demaret of Kiamasha Lake, N.Y., and amateur Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio, fired 73s.

Gene Sarazen of Germantown, N.Y., who tied Stranahan in the qualifying rounds, had a 75. Al Watrous of Birmingham, Mich., and Tony Penna of Cincinnati had 76s.

1865 Infantry Unit Claims Initial Four-Minute Effort

NEW YORK (U)—Old North Dakota archives strongly indicate that the fastest mile ever run by a human was recorded 80 years ago this week, long before either John Landy or Roger Bannister learned to talk. We are indebted to Eugene Fitzgerald, sports editor of the Fargo (N.D.) Forum, for having made available this long-forgotten page of track history.

"At a celebration at Ft. Rice, Dakota Territory, about 25 miles south of Mandan, on July 4, 1865, the Frontier Scout of July 6 that year had a report on the holiday festivities," Fitzgerald writes.

"Four companies of U.S. volunteers, infantrymen who deserted from the Confederate army, were stationed at Ft. Rice, along with a company of the 5th Iowa Cavalry, Col. C. A. R. Dimon was the commanding officer.

"The first event on the holiday celebration following the review was a mile run, three times around the fort. There were six entries for a prize of $5.

"The event was won by Cpl. W. H. Green of Co. D of the Confederate deserters in the time of 3½ minutes, the Frontier Scout reported. Pvt. W. M. Winfrey of Co. C was second in 4 minutes.

"E. G. Adams, the editor of the Frontier Scout, in which the report was made, also was a Confederate deserter.

"Of course, someone is going to say the timing wasn't accurate. But even allowing for the accuracy of the timing, you'll admit that 15 seconds (under 4 minutes) would be a big margin of error for 225 seconds. Even conceding that the timing might have been inaccurate, there wasn't much wrong with the engineering of those days, and 12 inches was a foot.

"(The fort) was rectangular, 510 feet on its north and south sides and 300 on the east and west. Three times around that enclosure would be 6,000 feet, or 780 feet more than the regulation mile which Bannister and Landy ran under 4 minutes. The best sprinters of our day would require more than 25 seconds to cover the 780 yards which Green and Winfrey ran after completing the mile.

"Possibly the $5 first prize (which automatically made the runners professionals) is the reason the accomplishment has never been given official recognition, because there was no shortage of spectators.

"The Frontier Scout reported that the wives of officers and soldiers and visiting ladies watched the celebration from the parapet of the fort. The Indians below, some only in breech cloth, wore grotesque costumes, leaning against the fort. Squaws bore their offspring pig-back. The Indians wore fringes, beads, feathers, buffalo robes and tassels and a conglomeration of everything that shines, hangs and flutters."

The Detroit Lions established a new National Football League home attendance record during the 1953 season by playing before 315,609 fans in six home games. That's an average of 52,601 per contest.

Giants Setting Phenomenal Pace in NL, Slug Brooks 10-2

By JOE REICHLER
AP Sports Writer

The New York Giants, rolling along at a phenomenal .861 pace since June 3, hold the biggest lead any Giant team has enjoyed past the midseason mark in 18 years.

Not since Sept. 25, 1936, when the Giant led the Chicago Cubs by seven games, has a Giant club led by more than the current 4 1/2 game margin over the Brooklyn Dodgers.

The 1936 Giants went on to win the pennant by five games. Since then they have won two pennants—in 1937 and in 1951. Their biggest margin in 1937 was 4 1/2 games. In 1951, they didn't grab exclusive possession of first place until after the first post-season playoff game with the Dodgers.

Last night the Giants not only captured their 31st victory in the last 37 games but made it five in a row over Brooklyn with a resounding 10-2 triumph. They walked four home runs, scored four runs in each of the first and fifth innings and whipped Don Newcombe for the first time at Ebbets Field since the big Negro right-hander joined the Dodgers in 1949.

To rub it in, Jim Hearn, the Giants' right-hander, went the route only for the second time this season and registered his first Ebbets Field triumph since July 3, 1952.

Willie Mays, Monte Irvin, Wes Westrum and Alvin Dark smacked the homers. Gil Hodges got one for the Dodgers. It was No. 28 for Mays, tops in both leagues.

Cleveland's Indians drubbed the Baltimore Orioles 6-1 for their 10th victory in the last 11 games. All the Indian runs came in the second inning.

The New York Yankees trounced the Boston Red Sox 17-4, remaining 3 1/2 games behind first-place Cleveland. Chicago's White Sox, struggling to stay within reach of the Indians, shut out Detroit 9-0 behind the four-hit pitching of Don Johnson.

Milwaukee's Braves nipped the Chicago Cubs 1-0, as Chet Nichols outthrewed Howie Pollet in a south-paw duel. Danny O'Connell's seventh-inning single followed by Jim Pendergast's double accounted for the lone run.

The Yankees enjoyed their most productive day of the season, pounding four Boston pitchers for 17 hits in a game that was halted in the eighth inning by rain. Yogi Berra drove in five runs with a triple and homer and Irv Noren whacked four hits in five times at bat.

The White Sox smashed 16 hits, including a home run by Ron Jackson, the 6-foot-7 20-year-old bonus first baseman.

Gonzales Picks Bobo Olson in Castellani Bout

OAKLAND, Calif. (U-P)—Take it from a man who has fought both of them: Middleweight champion Carl (Bobo) Olson will beat Rocky Castellani when they meet for the title in San Francisco Aug. 20.

Pedro Gonzales, 21-year-old Negro boxer from Rankin, Pa., expressed the opinion last night after he had been knocked out in four rounds by Olson in their scheduled 10-round non-title bout.

Gonzales previously lost a close, split decision to Castellani in Rocky's home, Cleveland.

A jolting right uppercut put Gonzales on his back last night, and although he was on his feet when Referee Max Baer counted 10, he was a beaten fighter.

Gonzales said the punch hit him on the Adam's apple, but ring-siders saw it continue to land on his jaw. The knockdown came in 2:57 of the fourth. Olson weighed 167, Gonzales, 163.

Gonzales had never been counted out before in 28 fights and had lost only four.

"Olson is a much better fighter," he said. "He punches sharper and more often, but I think Castellani punches harder."

Gonzales took a beating, although he said Olson's punches did not hurt him. He stood up under a barrage of hard blows, but Olson's body attack with occasional punches to the head appeared to wear him down.

Just as the basketball season ended, Jim McDermott switched his attention to baseball. He coaches both sports at Iona College, New Rochelle, N.Y.

Giardello Cops Verdict Easily Over Kilgore

PHILADELPHIA (U-P)—Joey Giardello nursed a sore left side of his face today but to ease his pain the Philadelphia middleweight had a nice fat check and a victory that kept him in line for a title fight.

The 23-year-old Giardello tuned up last night for an expected 160-pound title shot in October by lambasting Billy Kilgore of Miami. He won a unanimous 10-round verdict with the use of a sharp left hook and a potent overhand right.

Kilgore, who earned this bout with the nation's third-ranking middleweight through a series of upset wins, was out of his class. If it hadn't been for an unintentional butt that opened a severe cut about an inch under Giardello's left eye on the cheek, there wouldn't have been any contest.

Giardello was fighting two battles, protecting the badly damaged cheek and trying to pile up enough points to win the verdict. From the second round on, he had to be mindful of the blood flowing down his cheek. The ringside physician examined it before the third round started. But out and all, Giardello proceeded to pound the 28-year-old Birmingham, Ala., native into submission.

8 Records Fall In Prospect's Field Program

Eight records fell and one was tied in the eighth annual Prospect Playground field meet.

Steve Lauer, ninth grader, broke three of the marks. He broad-jumped 19 feet, three and one-eighth inch, ran the 50-yard dash in 8.4 to break the old mark by three-tenths of a second, and ran around the softball base paths in 10.8 to break the base circling record.

Diana Wood, fifth grader, led the girls by setting two records, in the broad jump and 40 yard dash, and tying another, base circling.

Other marks were set by Roger Landon in the special high school 60-yard dash, 7.1; Dave Gast in the broad jump for first grade boys, 9.5; and Linda Halley in the broad jump for second grade girls, 10.4.

Wilhelm Crew, Vance Win in Little Leagues

Vance and Wilhelm turned in Little League victories last night at Robert Scott Field.

Vance whitewashed Osgood 6-0 while Wilhelm disposed of Hinton 9-2 in National League action.

Rocky Evans hurried and batted the Wilhelm squad to victory over Hinton. He held the losers to four hits while striking out 15 and walking three and lost the ball twice with his fifth and sixth homers of the season. The win made Evans 3-1 for the year.

Johnny Holmes absorbed the loss for Hinton, his second loss against Vance. He allowed six hits over the six-inning route while fanning 10 and walking five.

Three runs in the first, third and fifth frames accounted for Wilhelm scoring. Hinton's runs came in the first.

Bailey banged out a pair of hits for the winners. Hinton four hits were distributed among four players.

Larry Saunders spun a one-hit shutout over Osgood in the nightcap.

Tapped for the only hit in the opening frame by Doug Beaver, Saunders whiffed six batters and walked one in chalking up his third victory of the season. He has lost twice.

His mates backed up his hurling performance with an eight-hit attack, netting two runs in the

All-Stars Take 2-1 Contest at London

Smitty's All-Stars edged the London Eagles 2-1 there last night behind the hurling of Thorpe and hitting of Fritz Walters.

Thorpe held the losers to four hits while Walters provided the margin of victory with his plate work.

Walters hit for a round-tripper in the first frame to send Smitty's off to a flying start. Then in the sixth, he doubled, went to third on an infield grounder and came in on a wild pitch. London scored its lone run in the fourth inning.

The locals collected six hits off Smith of the losers with Bob Schaefer also netting a pair of hits. Thorpe added a hit to the cause while Culver also hit safely.

Warren Spahn, ace southpaw, is the only member of the Milwaukee Braves who played with the Boston Braves in the 1948 World Series.

Democrats Bid For Increase in Pay to Jobless

Chances Appear Dim In Senate, House for Proposed Legislation

WASHINGTON (U)—Democrats planned floor fights today in both the House and Senate to try to increase unemployment insurance benefits, but their prospects appeared dim.

The House scheduled action on a bill by Rep. Daniel A. Reed (R-N.Y.) to extend unemployment compensation coverage to about four million additional workers in smaller businesses. The Senate called up a bill to create a reserve fund from which states could borrow to tide them over temporary emergencies caused by heavy drains on unemployment insurance funds.

Lead Drives

Democrats led by Sen. Kennedy (D-Mass.) and Rep. Forand (D-R.I.) prepared amendments to both of these bills to try to write in an increase in benefits and longer payment periods for the jobless. Neither bill as it stands now would change benefits.

Forand said in an interview that President Eisenhower has called for action along the lines of his proposed amendments, but that Eisenhower has tried to "pass the buck to the states" to improve the program, a federal-state undertaking. Eisenhower has urged that state legislatures act to raise jobless benefits.

Forand said there is no indication that the states will do this.

Present Laws Vary

The Democratic amendment would require each state to pay benefits for 26 weeks. Present state laws vary from 16 to 26 weeks.

It also would provide that maximum benefits would be not less than two thirds of each state's average weekly wage, with a minimum for each individual of 50 percent of his own wages. This would guarantee maximums of $32 to $36 in the various states. At present, the maximums run from $20 to $33 with a national average payment of about $24.50.

Republican leaders in both House and Senate denounced this program as unsound and said they were confident it would be beaten. Some Democrats agreed.

differentials in "low-paid plants." Negotiators had been meeting here since June 2. A previous meeting held at Canton, Ohio, recessed May 4.

The union never has disclosed its exact demands.

Negotiations here for Goodyear were part of a series of meetings being conducted for the rubber industry. The contracts expire next February but were brought up under a reopening clause. Union representatives are meeting in Cleveland with the Firestone and General Tire and Rubber companies. A meeting with the U.S. Rubber Co. is being held in New York and a recessed session with Goodyear is scheduled to be resumed here next Tuesday.

At Goodyear, the workers now average $2.08 an hour.

L. S. Buckmaster, general president of the union, said, "The strike was caused by the refusal of Goodyear to grant an adequate wage increase and to make any substantial correction of wage differentials in their low-paid plants."

He said the union was willing to continue the negotiations today but that the company said it was not ready.

Fred W. Climer, Goodyear's vice president of industrial relations, who headed the company's negotiators, said the company would be glad to resume negotiations at Akron.

Climer's statement, issued after the breakdown of negotiations, said the CIO United Steelworkers had accepted a 5-cent increase from U. S. Steel and that several unions in the electrical industry had accepted similar terms.

Prospect Groups Pitch In To Improve Playgrounds

Swimming Pool Will Be Next Project Toward Civic Betterment

Combined efforts of individual citizens and civic groups are paying dividends in Prospect toward betterment of the community.

Tuesday afternoon workers put the finishing touches on the black-top surfacing program which converted Prospect School yard into a clean playground area.

BEFORE THE WEEK is finished, Clyde Forry, school superintendent hopes to have installed facilities for basketball, tennis, volleyball, and night dances.

The 45 by 90 foot area, which once was a sea of mud in springtime, is now a dirt-free, gravel-lined play yard adequate for the 500 children who are expected to jam the school next fall.

The project began when the Community Youth Fund donated $400 toward the blacktopping program. Before long, the idea had snowballed with the Boosters' Club of the school, the Fourth of July Committee, the Lions Club, the Parent-Teachers Association, student body of the high school, and the Community Institute all contributing money to the project.

A TOTAL OF $1,742 was donated by the seven clubs. Remainder of the cost of the plan will be paid by the Prospect School Board. Forry said the blacktopping cost was just a few dollars above the amount donated.

Cost of the entire project, including nets, backboards, markings, and lights, will exceed $2,000.

Another project is now in the mill for this small but progressing community. Officials of the organizations are making plans for building a community swimming pool.

First step in the move was made Monday when an Independence Day celebration was held in the city, netting about $1,000 for the program.

DR. MERRILL RANCK, head of the Community Youth Fund, said it was amazing the way in which all citizens turned out to help make the affair a success. Men and women donated their time to building booths, setting up displays and preparing the fireworks. Children in the town pitched in and helped when needed.

When the celebration began Monday afternoon, crowds thronged to the town. There were so many persons and autos present, cars had to be parked outside the corporate limits. An extra policeman, sheriff's deputies, and state highway patrolmen all helped direct the flow of autos.

ABOUT MIDWAY in the afternoon, Emery's Market on Water

HEADS OF CIVIC ORGANIZATIONS gathered at Prospect School Wednesday afternoon to see their first project unveiled as the blacktopping program of the playground at the school was completed.

UPPER: Representatives of the Prospect organizations present were (left to right) Mrs. Robert Emery of the Parent Teachers Association, Dale Bachelder of the Boosters' Club, W. F. Lowery of the Fourth of July Committee, Dr. Merrill Ranck of the Community Youth Fund, Mrs. William Herr of the Community Youth Fund, Richard Linstedt of the Community Institute, and Clyde Forry, superintendent of Prospect School.

LOWER: The 45 by 90 foot playground as it looks with its new surface. Backboards, nets, lights and fences will be erected to permit the use of the playground for tennis, basketball and night dances.

St. caught fire. The men promptly turned over their concession stands to the women and children and went to fight the blaze. They had it quenched in about 20 minutes, and were soon back at their posts, with no disruption in the celebration.

A register was placed at a convenient spot at the celebration and persons interested in donating time, labor, or service to the pool project were asked to sign. Dr. Ranck said the response was very good, as many persons from Marion, Richmond, and other locations in the area offered to help in the project.

FROM TIME TO TIME during the summer months, Prospect citizens hope to have other projects and activities to help their pool project. Beginning Friday, a weekly street dance will be held. This week, the dance will be held on S. Main St. However, after work on State Route 4 begins, the community expects to have to move the dances to the newly blacktopped playground.

No solicitation of funds for the pool will be made until the groundwork is fairly well laid out, Dr. Ranck said.

Democrat Says Pressure Used In GOP Victory

Congressman Charges Threats Made in Bid For Flexible Prices

WASHINGTON (U)—Rep. Abernethy (D-Miss.) said today he has been told House Republicans were subjected to "terrific pressures and stringent disciplinary action" to line them up last week for flexible farm price supports.

Abernethy is a member of the House Agriculture Committee and a backer of the present system of rigid price supports, which the House refused to extend, voting instead for a flexible plan modified somewhat from administration proposals.

Issues Statement

"Many Republicans quietly complained that every possible method of disciplinary action was exercised to whip some of their colleagues in line," Abernethy said in a statement.

"It was strongly rumored... that officials in the offices of the Republican National Committee had told members who were inclined to vote for the committee bill that unless they voted with the administration... that no money would be made available for their forthcoming campaigns."

Abernethy said one Republican who was "very bitter about it" told him Republicans were "subjected to terrific pressures and stringent disciplinary action." He did not name this GOP member.

Amendment Approved

The test came on an amendment, approved 228-170, providing flexible price supports for basic farm crops ranging between 82½ percent to 90 percent of parity, a standard said by law to give farmers a fair return in relation to their costs.

The Agriculture Committee had recommended rigid supports at 90 percent of parity. The administration asked for flexible supports ranging from 75 to 90 percent of parity.

Churches in Area Send Delegates to Guild Convention

Women from Marion and Kenton Evangelical and Reformed churches are taking part in the denomination's annual Conference of the Women's Guild this week on the campus of Heidelberg College at Tiffin.

Mrs. Stanley Fritz of Kenton is general chairman, and Mrs. L. Harrison Ludwig of Marion, president of the Indian Lake Regional Women's Guild, is in charge of class registration. She is from Salem Evangelical and Reformed Church in Marion. Going from First Evangelical and Reformed Church here were Miss Dora Jacobs who attended the sessions Tuesday, and Mrs. Carl Haberman. Official representative for the First Church, Mrs. Haberman is among approximately 280 delegates present from Alabama, Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, Michigan, Missouri, Ohio, and West Virginia. The conference opened Tuesday and closing sessions are tomorrow. General theme is "Our Christian Beliefs." This is one of six such conferences scheduled on college campuses this summer.

Instructors for six classes include a former missionary to China and Japan. The program includes morning devotions, and evening vespers for which Mrs. F. Nelson Schlegel of Cleveland is speaker. A guest, Mrs. E. L. Hillman of Siler City, N. C., member of the board of managers of United Church Women of the National Council of Churches, will give the main address tonight on "This Is the Day." Closing session tomorrow will be a luncheon at noon.

Charles Dunn, business agent for the carpenters local, refused to comment on the situation. He said he preferred to voice no opinion on the statements made by Steward.

Under the new contract with bricklayers, they are to receive ceiling $3.25 an hour. Adding to the rift between contractors and laborers is a demand for an extra 15 cents per hour for masons tenders. Their rate would become $2.40 an hour if the demands are granted.

Officials of the labor union could not be reached for comment this morning.

Most laborers and carpenters affected are working on new homes in the area. Steward Construction Co. men, though, are employed in the remodeling job at May Jewelry Co. on W. Center St. Five carpenters are on strike there now.

Steward said he feared the union would attempt to exert pressure on workers on his main out-of-town project at Ohio Wesleyan University in Delaware, where about 50 men are employed.

PERFECT RELIEF JOB

SHAWNEE, Okla. (U)—Here's a perfect job of relief pitching—and relief hitting, too. Pitcher Gerald Wooten of Shawnee in the Sooner State League was called in from the bullpen and hurled four innings of no-hit ball. His home run with the bases loaded in the ninth inning won the game 11-8.

Police in Akron Arrest 8 Ohio Edison Pickets

AKRON, Ohio (U)—Police arrested eight members of the striking CIO Utility Workers Union yesterday and charged them with inciting a riot at the Ohio Edison Co.'s gorge power plant.

The arrests came while federal mediators sought a settlement in the dispute between the company, which serves 1,500,000 persons in Northeast Ohio, and the union, which represents 2,200 employees.

Some power failures were reported in scattered areas, and supervisors formed crews to repair broken lines.

Police captain Stephen McGowan, who read the riot act to the eight pickets, said they had parked three automobiles across the entrance to the gorge plant, and tried to prevent a truck from entering. The truck was carrying food to supervisors manning the plant.

The eight pickets were freed on their own $500 recognizance bond and a hearing was set for today.

Richard Hartley, chairman of the Ohio Edison union's joint council called the police action "just silly." He said the pickets "didn't incite any riot."

Junta Drafting New Charges Against Arbenz

GUATEMALA (U)—Charges of murder and mismanagement mounted today against ousted President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman. The latest accusation sought to tag him with the 1949 slaying of his arch political rival—armed forces chief Col. Francisco Javier Arana.

In a move paving the way for Arbenz' arrest should he leave the Mexican Embassy where he is reported hiding, a tribunal of the ruling junta heard a friend of the slain man, Jose M. Palacios, formally charge the ex-President with masterminding the assassination.

Arbenz and leaders of his regime already face assorted charges of murder, torture and looting. In addition, the junta is trying to find out what happened to a million dollars which Arbenz' treasurer, Roberto Garcia Ortiz, said he turned over to the shortlived military regime which succeeded the leftist President.

Palacios blamed the Arana slaying on Arbenz and his agrarian department chief, Maj. Alfonso Martinez, who pushed through the Communist-backed regime's disputed land reforms.

must do everything possible to keep the Chinese Communists out of the U. N. But he said he doesn't want the United States cast in advance in the role of "being willing to preside at the liquidation of the United Nations."

Knowland himself has been cooling on his proposal to give advance notice of American withdrawal. George's opposition indicated the Republican leader would lack the necessary Democratic votes to get it approved in a closely divided Senate.

Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.), acting chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, said he agrees the proposal won't be offered.

Eisenhower told a White House news conference yesterday he is "completely and unalterably opposed under the present situation to the admission of Red China into the United Nations." The White House gave added emphasis to his remarks by authorizing direct quotation, ordinarily not permitted.

Eisenhower added, however, that if American opposition should be overridden "the question of whether we would accomplish more good in the world, whether we could advance the cause of peace and decency better by going out than staying in—that is something that would have to be decided."

He said he doubted that any plan for automatic U.S. withdrawal was being seriously considered in Congress.

Knowland interpreted this as a sign that the President wants no advance commitments. He indicated he will bow to Eisenhower's judgment. But he predicted that if the Peiping government is seated, Congress would act swiftly to take the United States out of the U. N.

Auto Runs Into Culvert, Phone Pole; 2 Injured

Two Michigan youths were injured Wednesday morning when their car went off the road on U. S. Route 23, one mile south of Norton. It was the only accident reported in Marion County by state patrolmen from the Marion post. City police also reported one accident.

The Route 23 accident happened at 6:35 a.m. when the driver of the car, Victor Spears, 21, of Wyandot, Mich., apparently fell asleep while driving, patrolmen said.

The car, which was northbound, went off the left side of the road over a culvert and into a telephone pole.

Spears received lacerations of the mouth and right knee. A passenger in his car, David Stevens, 19, of Wyandot suffered a fractured left arm. Both were taken to Marion City Hospital by a passing motorist.

Stevens was admitted and is in "good" condition this morning. Spears was treated and released. Spears then was arrested and posted bond for his appearance in Delaware Municipal Court. He was charged with driving left of center.

The front end of the auto was moderately damaged and the car had to be removed by wrecker.

Two Autos Collide

One minor traffic accident was reported today by city police.

Cards driven by John D. Owens, 24, of 758 Congress St., and Margaret Bland of 550 Vine St., were involved in the accident yesterday at 4:44 p.m. on E. Church in front of the Nic Nac Restaurant.

Both vehicles were traveling east on E. Church St. There was damage to the grill, bumper, hood and left front fender of the Bland car while the splash pan and rear bumper was damaged on the Owens car.

Doctor

Sheriff's deputies and Coroner Samuel R. Gerber had been denied opportunity to speak with the osteopath by hospital doctors who said he was still too ill.

After the funeral, Dr. Sheppard was returned to Bay View Hospital, where he was taken shortly after he reported his wife's murder. He said "I will co-operate with the investigation in every way."

Feels Awful
But he added he felt "awful" and "my doctors tell me that I'm not in shape yet."

Assistant County Prosecutor John J. Mahon said he had advised the coroner to hold an inquest and subpoena Dr. Sheppard to testify under oath if efforts to question him continued to be futile.

Dr. Gerber said the osteopath's neck had not been broken, as had been reported earlier. He said two X-ray plates showed no defect in Dr. Sheppard's vertebrae, while a third plate "shows a defect," but not a break.

When authorities were summoned to his home and found his wife murdered, the husky osteopath gave a vague account of having chased and fought an assailant after waking up to his wife's screams. He said he had been dozing on a downstairs couch.

Hanoi

SOKOLSKY

In the building of a universal state, it is sometimes necessary to give the appearance of retreat in order more skillfully to move forward. Such was World War I and World War II had to be fought in as much a hurry as possible because war exhausts not only the defeated but the victors. In building a universal state, however, time is not of the essence. The object is to accumulate states by infiltration and adhesion—a slower, less costly process.

The French accept their defeat in Indochina and are making the best of it by an apparent compromise. They are retreating from Hanoi and the Chinese Communists will apparently give up Laos and Cambodia. Laos and Cambodia can wait until the People's Republic of Indochina, supported by the Chinese Communists, moves, on its own, to unify the whole of Indochina into a federation of autonomous republics.

WHO SHALL GAINSAY the "voluntary" organization of such a federation—the will of the people? And who shall in 1957 or 1958 say that it is not the will of the people? How easy it becomes to conquer countries when it is unnecessary to fight for them! Soviet Russia has not lost a man in the Korean or the Indochina wars.

All that needs to be done is to create a new, high-sounding slogan, something that is essentially true in thought but utterly false in application, something like "co-existence." Why, in truth, should not nations with different systems of life co-exist? They always have in the past. Therefore, use "co-existence" as a method for conquest, just as the word, Democracy, worked so well at Yalta and Potsdam.

Tonkin and Annam in Indochina are now part of the Soviet Universal state, mastered by the Chinese Communists. These two countries have for centuries been under Chinese cultural and political influence. Sometimes, they were actually controlled by Chinese emperors, long before the French moved into the Red River Valley.

CAMBODIA is altogether a different kind of a country. The people are of Khmer origin. The Khmers must have been a highly civilized people as the ruins at Angkor Wat indicate. These buildings of surprising beauty could only have been planned and built by men of a high state of culture.

Some Siamese may also be of Khmer origin, although that country consists of many races. At any rate, Cambodia is closer to Siam culturally than it is to Annam or Tonkin where Chinese influences are greater. In fact, Siam once annexed Angkor to Cambodia.

As the Red River is the main thoroughfare between Tonkin and China, so the Mekong River is the leading river of Cambodia, also flowing from China passing through Laos into Cambodia which it traverses to its delta on the South China Sea. That delta is one of the richest rice producing areas in the world.

Its value to Communist China cannot be underestimated and therefore it must be assumed that its conquest will not be too long delayed.

But for this delta the Soviet universal state can afford to wait rather than to risk a fighting war which must involve Russia itself.

IF THE FRENCH can be induced to withdraw from Indochina and if the United States can be discouraged from going in, the question of the successor-state arises. If a Communist Indochina government is recognized by France, does not that government become the successor state? Does not France, in effect, establish it as the successor-state?

In 1954, that question will not arise, but in 1955 or in 1956 when other issues attract attention, will not the Communist government of Indochina, after it has been recognized by France, as it is de facto being so recognized now, claim its rights as the successor-state to a unified Indochina which must include Laos, bordering on Burma, and Cambodia on the Gulf of Siam?

So the new empire builds itself, step by step, patiently outwearing opposition, devising slogans which appeal to the Western eye and ear, to the lust for peace, a desire so great in our country and in Great Britain that it becomes a lure.

Perhaps there is no other course but to give in until a place is found where a stand can be made effectively. Such a stand could not be made effectively in Indochina except by bombing the mainland of China.

(King Features Syndicate)

A SAN FRANCISCO hat check girl, Patricia Erickson Harbers, is in a fighting mood as she brings suit for $500,000 against a West Coast beer concern, claiming that her chances for being featured in an advertising campaign were knocked out by Jack Dempsey. She said she had won a beauty contest, and believed her picture would be used. Instead, she says, the concern decided to use a photo of Dempsey.

Demand Exceeds Supply In City Planning Field

CHICAGO (UP)—Demand far outweighs the supply of qualified city planners, according to the American Society of Planning Officials.

The society said it has more than 85 jobs on file with its personnel exchange service, which is consulted on hiring for about three-fourths of all professional planning vacancies.

The society estimated that there are about 50 per cent more jobs created each year than there are recruits graduating from qualified schools.

Housecleaning

RIESSEL

The twin underworlds of the nation's crime barons and the Communist's secret cells are about to be depopulated by the Department of Justice.

Moving so quietly and so methodically that few are aware of what is like to refer to as "Operation Deportation," the Department's agents and lawyers have woven a legal dragnet across the land. Slowly, because those in charge observe every nuance of "due process," the dragnet is picking up and dumping abroad the brains of these underworlds.

In time, "Operation Deportation" will crack the pro-Soviet and mob networks which also control what's left of the Communist-run and crooked unions.

FROM THE FIRST week in January 1953 to the last week in May 1954, 1,611 criminal, immoral and narcotics-handling thugs have been deported.

In these 17 months, the Justice Department has dispatched 33 proven subversives to their native lands—and each one had every right to final appeal to the highest courts.

One, in fact, a Russian by the name of I. Blankenstein, who helped found the American Communist party, was ordered deported on May 7, 1954. He disappeared and actually evaded arrest for 29 years. When I last heard of him, he was being held without bail at Ellis Island.

In addition to these 1,704 who were actually deported, Attorney General Brownell issued final deportation orders in this period for 296 subversives who were Soviet activists and for several hundred criminals as well.

Elimination of these characters will crack the Communist and crime network inside labor. For example, among those scheduled to go is John Williamson, now in jail for conspiring to teach the violent overthrow of the government.

John Williamson was the Communist party's labor chief. He claimed birth in this country—but the department's sleuths know he was born in Scotland. Back he goes.

ON THE CRIME front, mobster overlords who provided the guns and muscle for many a thug who cut himself in on some unions, such as Jack Dragna, of Los Angeles, Joe Accardi and Joe Adonis of New York, are scheduled to be deported.

So are Albert (The Executioner) Anastasia, of old order, Inc. Joe Bonanno; Pietro Corrado; Vito Genovese; Frankie Costello; and Meyer Lansky. That will put a real crimp in the high command.

The brain trusts will be deported—but the rank-and-file of both underworlds may go, too.

Federal agents—mostly from the

By Victor Riesel

FBI and the Immigration Division—are investigating 1,619 in the criminal and immoral alien classes.

The big job is in that underworld peopled by the Communist international. The Department of Justice now has 10,036 naturalized citizens under investigation.

Evidence shows they are working with the subversive networks. And the government is trying to determine whether they can be denaturalized and deported.

At the same time another 12,049 persons who never bothered to be naturalized—just too busy on the Communist front, no doubt—are being probed to determine whether they are deportable.

IF THESE PERSONS in the subversive groupings are deportable, the Justice Department will move against them and thus will wipe out a good deal of the Communist party's rank-and-file.

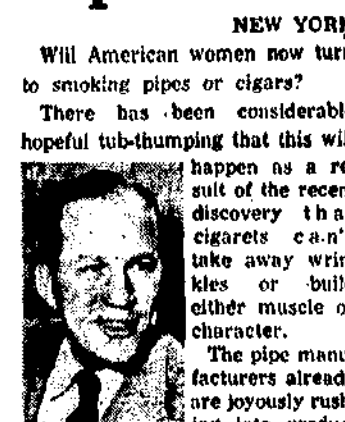

FBI chief J. Edgar Hoover has estimated that the party has some 25,000 disciplined members at the moment.

Of course, the party and the mobs will be looking for outside talent—from abroad. The government is watching its ports as carefully as possible. Result: in the past 17 months it has intercepted 628 persons in the criminal, immoral and "narcotic" classes who actually reached a U. S. port of entry.

The Department stopped 128 in the subversive class.

Looks like there are going to be a lot of not-so-innocents abroad.

Pipes for Mama?

HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK

Will American women now turn to smoking pipes or cigars?

There has been considerable hopeful tub-thumping that this will happen as a result of the recent discovery that cigarettes can't take away wrinkles or build either muscle or character.

The pipe manufacturers already are joyously rushing into production with a series of dainty-stemmed, colorful little chimneys designed to match milady's purse, belt and shoes.

The cigar boys are less optimistic about invading the feminine market on a mass basis. But here and there you can hear them murmur wistfully "After all, ladies of fashion in some European countries have enjoyed cigars in public for generations. Why not here?"

of cigar-or-pipe-smoking women would be a national disaster—from the male viewpoint.

Take the simple matter of cost. No family budget today is large enough to support two serious cigar smokers. And if somebody has to scrimp on his stogies, it won't be mama. It'll be papa. He'll be wandering around the house edging her stumps from the ashtrays.

The cost factor also will enter into pipe smoking. Do you think for a moment that a wife will be satisfied with Gen. Douglas MacArthur's famous corncob model? Nay, indeed. She'll need a separate pipe for every house dress or cocktail gown she buys. A pipe will become just another accessory to her wardrobe, and don't think the pipe she wears out in the evening won't have to be plated with silver or gold and studded with something more expensive than rhinestones.

There is still another problem. America doesn't produce enough matches or lighters to keep the ladies supplied if they switch to cigars or pipes.

By Hal Boyle

Nor would the gallantry or muscle of American manhood be equal to the task of keeping mama lit up. I figure some man has to scratch three matches for every cigarette a woman smokes today. Think how arm-weary men will become if they have to keep her pipe or cigar burning. All it can result in is more divorces, with the husband whining:

"Judge, she smokes 4 cigars a night, and I have to light each cigar 40 times, and that's 160 matches, and I'm so worn out I can't do my work next day. Give me the kids, judge, and I'll be glad to pay her cigar alimony."

No, the sensible thing for women to do, if they must change at all, is to switch back to chewing tobacco. Some pioneer mothers used chawin' tobacco—and when has the world created a finer breed?

When a wife is gnawing on a cud of good old Peachy Plug you can be sure of one thing—she'll be too happy and contented to burn out her old man's ear with small mean talk. It'll bring peace and quiet to the home.

Pilot Absolved In Shooting of Cleveland Boy

CLEVELAND (U) — The fatal shooting of a 15-year-old boy who tried to commandeer a crowded transport plane was ruled justifiable today by Chief Police Prosecutor Bernard G. Conway.

His verdict followed questioning by detectives of Capt. William F. Bonnell, the American Airlines pilot who shot the youth, Raymond A. Kuchenmeister Jr., Tuesday.

Waving a pistol, the boy pushed into the plane being prepared for a takeoff here and ordered Bonnell to "fly to Mexico or get shot."

Bonnell said he whipped out his own gun and fired, trying to avoid shooting toward the passengers or the plane's gasoline tanks.

"I felt horrible when I heard he was a kid and had died," Bonnell said.

"I couldn't sleep all last night. Nobody could tell he was so young. He looked 25 to me. I had to do it. I had the responsibility of the plane and passengers."

Four crew members also questioned by police substantiated Bonnell's account of the shooting.

KILLED ON AIRLINER. Raymond Kuchenmeister, 15, of Parma, O., was shot and killed by the pilot of an American Airlines plane which the boy tried to commandeer at gun point at the Cleveland, O., airport. Waving a weapon, which authorities later found was empty, the lad entered the cockpit of the plane just before it was to take off for Mexico City. The pilot, Capt. William F. Bonnell, whipped a revolver from his flight kit and fired twice.

Pilots' Club Plans Dance at Airport

Members of the Marion Pilots Association will hold a dance Saturday night at the Hydraulic Press Manufacturing Co. hangar at Marion Municipal Airport.

Purpose of the dance is to obtain funds for the remodeling of one of the old buildings at the airport into a meeting place for the club.

Music will be supplied by the orchestra of Johnnie Kessler. Dancing is from 9:30 to 1:30, with tickets at sale in stores around town and at the door.

At present the club holds meetings wherever members can find space.

Oldest Vet of Civil War

In Good Shape, V.A. Says

HOUSTON (U) — Walter W. Williams, Veterans Administration doctors say, "is practically blind, has lost a few pounds and his hearing is bothering him."

But the 111-year-old Confederate veteran, oldest of four Civil War survivors, is in pretty good shape, everything considered. Dr. R. S. Wolfe said the old soldier's condition had changed little in the last year.

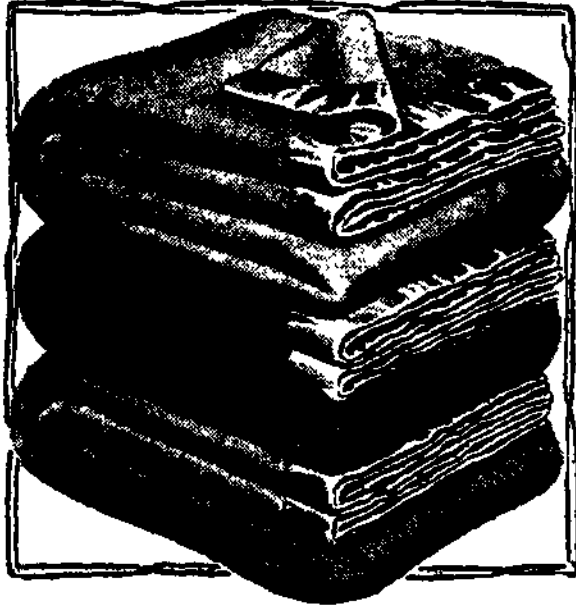

Williams comes to the VA regional office here for an annual checkup. He lives at Franklin, Tex.

Ohio GI, Wife Held in Alleged Selling of Child

TOWSON, Md. (U. P.)—Frank R. McRoberts, former Ft. Meade, Md., GI from Painesville, Ohio, was being held under $3,000 bail along with his wife today as Baltimore county juvenile authorities investigated a case of alleged child-selling.

McRoberts and his 24-year-old wife, Lucy, were charged with child neglect after a preliminary hearing before Judge John B. Grontum.

Sgt. Virginia Weed of the County's juvenile protective bureau went to the McRoberts home after neighbors complained he was offering to sell his children.

"I told McRoberts we heard he had a child for sale. He said 'Yes I hate to do it but I need the money to get a start,' the woman detective testified.

"He said he would take $74 for Linda, the 8-year-old daughter of Mrs. McRoberts by a former marriage. He later stated that he would take $200 for the baby. He said he would have to ask more for her since she was his own flesh and blood," said Sgt. Weed. The policewoman said McRoberts told her he and his wife had got some money for her four other children. However, he later said he had not sold them, but put them up for adoption.

County juvenile authorities are attempting to learn the status of the other youngsters.

German Draft Excludes Conscientious Objectors

BONN, Germany (U. P.)—Young Germans liable for future military service will have a privilege denied their grandfathers and fathers under the Kaiser and Hitler. They will be able to claim exemption from the draft on grounds of conscience.

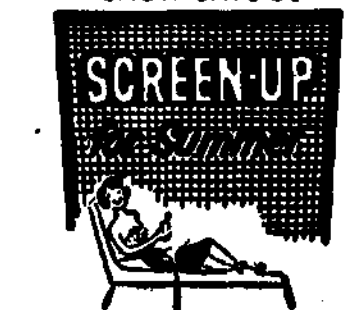

The West German Defense Commission, headed by Theodor Blank, is drafting a law containing detailed provisions for the treatment of conscientious objectors. No details are known, but Blank says only members of religious groups which reject armed force can object to military service.

NAMED AT CHATFIELD BUCYRUS — Appointment of Carroll W. Biggs, 29, of Westerville, O., as school superintendent at Chatfield, 10 miles north of Bucyrus, has been announced.

Biggs, a graduate of Ohio State University, succeeds Charles L. Overholser, who has been named superintendent of Jackson School at Campbelltown, O. For the past three and one-half years, he taught history, social science and American government at Big Walnut High School at Sunbury, O. The new superintendent is a World War II veteran and is married and the father of four children. The family expects to move to Chatfield about Aug. 1.

Railroad Accident Victim Succumbs of Injuries at Galion

GALION—Funeral services were held here Wednesday afternoon for Jesse Brown, 34, who was seriously injured June 28 when he slipped from a freight train and was dragged several hundred feet while hanging onto the train.

Brown had been a patient at Galion City Hospital since the night of his injury. He died at 10:45 a.m. Wednesday. Local authorities were unable to locate any relatives of the man. His last residence was in Detroit.

Rev. Floyd Mitchell of Crestline officiated for services, and burial was made in the Crawford County Home Cemetery in charge of the Snyder Funeral Home. Arrangements for burial were made by the Crawford County commissioners.

Robert Timson, night yard crewman for the New York Central Railroad, noticed Brown hanging between the cars of a westbound freight as it passed the Galion depot about 8:15 p.m. on June 28 and flagged the conductor to stop the train when the caboose passed the depot. Brown was removed from his precarious position near the Levinson Steel Warehouse on S. Market St., several hundred feet beyond the depot where he was first noticed. He suffered multiple fractures of both feet and ankles and lost considerable flesh. Later, one of his feet had to be amputated. It was reported that Brown had hopped the train in Cleveland and was trying to get off as it slowed down through Galion.

Man Slays 1. Wounds 3 With Butcher Knife

CLEVELAND (U. P.)—A man wielding a butcher knife ran into an East Side rooming house early today, killed one man and injured three other persons.

Dead was Walter Russell, 35, who lived at the rooming house.

Adrian Harvey, 17, Dorothy Johnson, 22, and Robert Fisher were treated at a hospital for cuts on the backs and hands. They were not seriously injured.

Homicide detectives said the slasher was described as a 28-year-old man who had a jealous hatred of Russell. He was not identified.

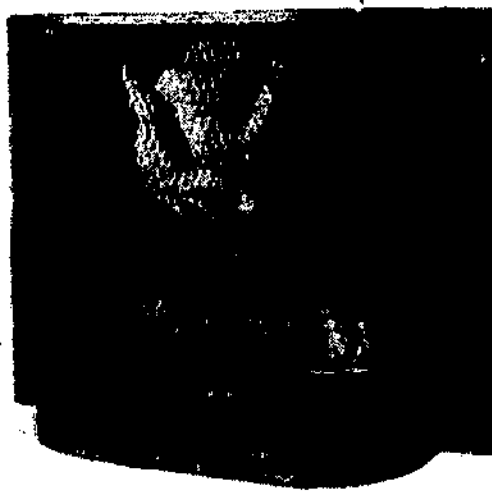

The earth's magnetic pole has been found to move slowly over a period of many years and one theory is the earth's magnetism comes from the liquid core of the earth which does not rotate quite as fast as the earth's surface.

300 MILLION EXPANSION

COLUMBUS, Ohio (U. P.)—A 10-million dollar expansion program was announced yesterday by the Farm Bureau Cooperative Assn. Officials said it would provide eight million more bushels of grain storage space. New terminals would be built at Columbus and Toledo and other areas not yet designated, officials said.

Five dollars was the average value at the mine of a ton of bituminous coal in 1933.

Make Two-Way Fresh Peach Dessert

Whipped Cream, Orange Custard Sauce Will Dress Up Fruit

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

Associated Press Food Editor

This peach dessert is a two-way affair. If your budget is on your mind, serve the peaches with their coconut filling "as is."

Then when kitchen finances allow you to go all out, doll up the peaches with our Orange Custard Sauce and whipped cream and accompany them with angelfood cake. (You can make the cake from scratch, use a mix or buy it.) Use this de luxe version of the peach dessert when you are having company.

A peach dessert such as this one is divine after curry, and here is one of our favorite menus. You'll notice that we have listed "curry accompaniments." By that we mean small bowls of ground-roasted peanuts, chopped hard-cooked egg, crumbled crisp-cooked bacon, chutney or sweet pickle relish. This assortment, we have found, tastes particularly good with a curry featuring shrimp.

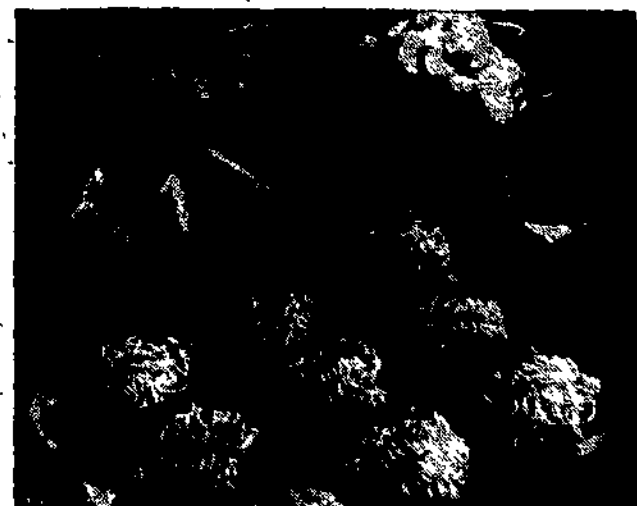

CURRY SUPPER WITH FRESH PEACH DESSERT

Curried Shrimp Steamed Rice Curry Accompaniments Green Salad Crisp Rolls Stuffed Peaches (DeLuxe Variation)

STUFFED PEACHES

Ingredients: 6 peeled ripe free-stone peach halves, 6 tablespoons sugar (scant), 4 tablespoons butter, 1/2 cup moist shredded coconut.

Method: Place peach halves, cavities up, in shallow baking dish. Put a tablespoon of sugar and a slice of butter into each peach cavity. Heap coconut on top of peaches. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven about 15 minutes or until coconut is lightly browned and peaches are heated through. Makes 6 servings.

De Luxe Variation: Serve the hot peaches on slices of angelfood cake; top with Orange Custard Sauce and slightly sweetened whipped cream.

ORANGE CUSTARD SAUCE

Ingredients: 2 eggs or 4 yolks, 1/4 to 2/3 cups sugar, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 2 cups milk (scalded), 1 teaspoon vanilla, dash of nutmeg, 1/2 teaspoon finely grated orange rind.

Method: Beat eggs slightly; mix with sugar and salt. Stir in about one-third of the hot milk. Add this mixture to remaining hot milk in top of double boiler. Place over hot (not boiling) water; cook and stir constantly until mixture thickens and coats a silver spoon. If whole eggs were used, strain. Stir in vanilla, nutmeg and orange rind. Chill. If desired, additional coarsely grated orange rind may be sprinkled over the top of the sauce. Makes about 2 1/2 cups sauce.

News of the District

Upper Sandusky

On the eve of Independence Day Miss Frida Faye Carroll, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson R. Carroll of Upper Sandusky, and Kenneth L. Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sanford L. Baker of Fremont, were united in marriage in John Stewart Methodist Church at 5:30 on Saturday afternoon, July 3. The double ring ceremony was read by the pastor, Rev. Stanley H. McGillivray. The maid of honor was Miss Evelyn Carroll, sister of the bride, and the youngest sister, Suzie Carroll served as flower girl. Leo Bundschuh of Fremont, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, served as best man. The new Mrs. Baker was a graduate of Prichard High School at Grayson, Ky.; attended Morehead State College at Morehead, Ky. Tiffin University School of Commerce. Her husband was a graduate of Fort Clinton High School and attended Ohio State University. He was graduated May 28 from Tiffin University with a bachelor of commercial science degree and is employed with the Ohio Oil Co. in Columbus.

A reception in the church basement followed the ceremony and immediately after the reception the young couple left for a week's trip to Niagara Falls and the east. They will reside in Columbus.

Fifty-year emblems were presented to four members of Warpole Lodge No. 476, F and AM during the annual sunrise meeting of the lodge at the Masonic Temple at 5 a.m. Monday. The fifty-year members honored were: Henry Rittersbach and Lovell H. Hull of Upper Sandusky; Alva Weist of nearby Little Sandusky, and a former Upper Sandusky resident, James N. McConnell, of Columbus. Thomas Reber of Upper Sandusky, member of the local lodge and a past grand master of the Grand Lodge of Ohio, conducted the emblem ceremony. Dale D. Kimmel, worshipful master of Warpole Lodge, was in charge of the work in the Master Mason degree.

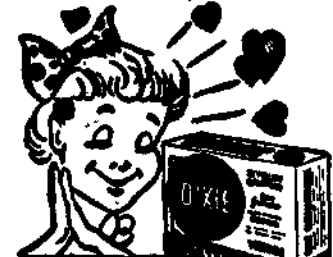

Monday was the 30th annual Independence Day sunrise meeting of the lodge, an event marked as homecoming or reunion day for members. The meeting was followed by the traditional ham and egg breakfast.

Sycamore

Miss Shirley Hummel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Quigg of Sycamore, and Donald Riedel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Layton Riedel of Dounquat, were married Saturday morning at the office of the Justice of the Peace in Upper Sandusky. They were attended by the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Quigg.

The bride wore a navy blue linen suit with which she combined white accessories, and her corsage was of white and pink carnations. The bride's parents entertained the bridal couple at dinner in Toledo on Saturday evening.

Both the bride and bridegroom graduated from the Sycamore High School. Mr. Riedel is employed by the Hannay poultry firm and the new Mrs. Riedel at the Domestic Laundry in Tiffin. They are living in their newly-furnished home in Dounquat.

Man Facing Trial On Conduct Charge

A Marion man accused of beating another Marion man and disorderly conduct pleaded not guilty in Municipal Court yesterday.

Thurman Turner, 29, of 180 Sharp St. was arrested July 3 after police were called to the scene of the beating at W. Center St. and the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad tracks by city firemen from the W. Center St. station.

Police found the firemen holding Turner and the other man involved, Gene Williams, 54, of 749 Davis St. lying on the ground. The firemen were summoned by an unknown passerby. Williams was taken to City Hospital for treatment of injuries to his head and face and Turner was held in the city jail on the disorderly conduct charge and for further investigation.

Williams filed an assault and battery charge July 6 and police filed the disorderly conduct charge the same day.

On Turner's not guilty plea, Judge Hazen ordered him held under $200 bond on the assault and battery charge and $50 bond on the disorderly conduct charge.

Hearing on the conduct charge was slated for today and the assault and battery hearing is scheduled for July 13.

Texas is the leading livestock state, ranking first in the number of cattle, sheep and goats.

Foot Soldiers Still Essential in Wars

NEW YORK (UP) — Atomic erillery, guided missiles and similar weapons provide a terrifying prospect for future warfare, but they will not replace the lowly foot soldier and his rifle, an expert on shoulder arms believes.

The role of the rifleman in the past and the weapons made available to him from colonial times to today are described in a book, "From Flintlock to M1," by Joseph W. Shields Jr. "A-bomb or no A-bomb, the rifleman is the keystone around which all military operations are constructed," Shields wrote. "Every large-caliber weapon is designed to support him, and similar enemy weapons are directed towards killing him. Why, then, should a dwarf be the target of a battle among giants?"

He explained: "Not until a rifleman plants his GI boots on a piece of soil and begins to dig in do we hold that piece of ground."

Shields says that the rifleman and his weapon form a unique combination in warfare — he can operate his weapon and carry his ammunition all by himself, he fires by direct observation and is one self-sufficient combat team. He suggests that in addition to atomic weapon research, the nation should seek ways of making its infantrymen more effective.

Note From First Lady Feature In Anniversary of Martel Pair

Congratulations from the nation's first lady to a Marion County couple on the occasion of their mutual wedding anniversary date, was the highlight for the latter's fifty-seventh anniversary observance July 1.

The message to Mr. and Mrs. James Midam of Martel, on gold-lettered White House stationery, was typed, then signed "Mamie Doud Eisenhower."

Mrs. Eisenhower's greeting expresses her friendly good wishes. Her letter reads:

"I have been told that you will have been married fifty-seven years on the day the President daughter, Mrs. Ralph Noggle of Marion.

near Martel. The couple had read an account of the lives of the President and Mrs. Eisenhower and were much interested to find that their own wedding anniversary date was shared by the White House occupants.

Observance for the Marion County couple consisted of spending the day and having dinner at their daughter's home. Both are in excellent health for their ages. They were married July 1, 1897 at Hilliard. Most of their life since has been spent in Marion County. Mr. Midam retired from full-time farming 10 years ago.

Besides their daughter, their family includes a granddaughter, Mrs. Maxine Krohmer of Marion, and two great-grandchildren, Sandra and Janet McElroy, also of Marion.

Signs Will Be Posted At Creek in Cardington

MOUNT GILEAD — The Whetstone Creek at Cardington will be posted with "no swimming" signs again this year.

Cardington Mayor Don Heale and the Cardington village Council, in cooperation with the Morrow County Health Department, are erecting signs. This is the only area that will be posted, but swimming in all streams and lakes in this area is extremely dangerous according to the health department. There is considerable raw and partially treated sewage being discharged into most of the water courses in Morrow County according to the department. In addition to the constant danger from disease that is present in polluted water, there is danger from unseen ledges, water currents, broken glass and debris on the bottom.

The health department strongly urges swimming in authorized swimming pools. The municipal pool in Mount Gilead is the only approved swimming pool in Morrow County.

Reunions Furnish

A family reunion was held Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Farness and son, John, near Caledonia. A potluck supper was served at 6 o'clock and home movies were entertainment. Relatives were present from Akron, Green Camp, Caledonia, Mount Gilead, Chama, Edison, LaRue, Delaware, Marion and Philadelphia, Pa.

bron for $39,486.09 worth of resurfacing of State Routes 229 and 238 in Morrow County. They also are to be completed by Oct. 15. Estimated cost of the project was $45,530. Total mileage to be affected is 11.38 miles.

Mrs. Donnenwirth, who has had 10 years' experience as a grade school teacher, succeeds Mr. Eugene Angene of Bucyrus, who resigned recently. Her salary will be $2,200 plus $300 car expenses, the same as was paid Mrs. Angene.

Mink Coat, Jewels Worth Jail Term, Decides Woman, 33

BOSTON (U)—Mrs. Mildred Prevost, a pretty 33-year-old brunette would rather serve a term in jail than give up her mink coat and jewels.

So she informed Municipal Court Judge Jennie L. Barron yesterday when the judge offered her this choice: "Give up your mink coat and jewels or spend six months in the common jail."

Mrs. Prevost's attorney, however, appealed the sentence.

The woman had pleaded guilty of defrauding an insurance firm of $800 by filing a false lost report on a diamond studded wrist watch.

Police said she pawned the watch and used the money to make a down payment on a mink coat.

Judge Barron offered to give Mrs. Prevost a suspended sentence if she would "assign the coat and jewels as security for restitution."

Weather Chilly After Mercury Drops Into 50s

By The Associated Press
Most of the southern half of the country had hot mid-summer weather today but it was a little on the chilly side in midwest and northeast areas.
Temperatures dropped into the low 50s over midwest sections early today. The 55 reading at Chicago was near the minimum temperature record for July 8. It was cooler in other midwest cities, with a 51 at Detroit and Madison, Wis.
The cool air extended from the Northern Plains eastward over the Great Lakes region and Ohio Valley to the Atlantic Coast. It also was on the cool side in the far northwestern states.

But it was hot again from western Tennessee westward to Oklahoma and over the southwest desert region and along the southern California coast. Los Angeles yesterday had the hottest day of the year with a top of 96 degrees. Other hot spots included Oklahoma City and Little Rock, Ark., with 103 and Memphis with 101.

Woman Indicted For Murder, Arson

FAYETTEVILLE, W. Va. (AP) — A 23-year-old Meadow Bridge mother was indicted here yesterday on three counts of murder and one of arson.
Mrs. Gloria June Vandall was accused of burning her 7-month-old illegitimate twin sons and her 4-year-old niece in a fire at her home in April, 1933. She gave herself up last April and confessed to starting the fire.
Police said she told them she wanted to get rid of her sons to marry her present husband. The niece was staying with Mrs. Vandall at the time.
Later the woman denied the story, saying she "just made it carrier."

Smallest Jet Fighter Passes First Flight Test

EL SEGUNDO, Calif. (AP) — The Douglas A4D Skyhawk, America's smallest jet combat plane, has made a successful 45-minute test flight.
Douglas and the U. S. Navy said the flight was at Edwards AFB in California's Mojave Desert last June 22. Test pilot Bob Rahn was quoted as saying the flight was "beyond all expectations."
Although less than half the size of some jet fighters, the Skyhawk is capable of carrying an atom bomb in takeoffs from an aircraft carrier.

Mendes-France Realist, Not Fellow Traveler

Austere Political Outlook Guides France's Premier

By CROSBY S. NOTES
PARIS, NANA—Who is Pierre Mendes-France, anyway?

Judging from the comment, the limit of foreign understanding about France's new premier is that he has an easy name to remember, and that, somehow, through a series of mysterious events, he has arrived unexpectedly on top of the French political heap.

If knowledge stops there, the foreigner shouldn't worry too much. A good many "informed" people—even here in Paris—are asking questions about the new premier. The other day, for the benefit of Frenchmen, a leading Paris daily published an article titled "Who is Pierre Mendes-France?" from which a great number of brilliant sketches were cribbed.

The fact is that, although Pierre Mendes-France has been around for years, and is the last man to hide his light under a bushel, few people until recently had made up their minds about him, or what his leadership might mean for France.

IN THE LAST FEW weeks, the attitude of most Americans toward him seems to have gone through something of a transformation. When it comes to Frenchmen, American diplomats lean heavily on a single criterion of judgment: if a man is for the European Defense Community, we're for him; if he is less than all-out for EDC, though he is a saint, he is numbered among bad guys.

This wonderfully simplified system of judgment got Mendes-France off to a dismal start in the American press. Tagged as an opponent of EDC, reports that his candidacy was looked on with the greatest misgiving by the State Department were published widely throughout France. The depth of misunderstanding was plumbed by the editor of one leading American newspaper who wired his Paris correspondent:

"How come fellow hyphen traveling Mendes hyphen France shuns Commie support in bid for confirmation query explain."

Whatever he is, Mendes-France is no fellow traveler. And although he is a member of the "Radical Party," he's no radical. Actually he is not a party man at all. He defies convenient pigeonholing and easy classification. His approach to individual issues is an independent one, based on a very personal scale of values. His support cuts across all party lines, and indeed there is good evidence that he has an ambition to form the rallying point of a completely new political movement.

FROM THE TIME HE first emerged on the political stage, his formula has been the same: "In France's weakened position, there is no pleasant and easy remedy. Whatever solution may be adopted by the government, the country must accept a great burden of work, restriction and privation." There are facets of Mendes-France's austere political philosophy which remind some observers of Britain's Sir Stafford Cripps. There are others which seem strangely in tune with the ideas of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft.

In a word, Pierre Mendes-France is an uncommonly stubborn man who insists on his right to make up his own mind about things. He is stubborn to an extent that few politicians are. It means little to him that he may soon be out of office. As a man who believes in his own destiny, he is willing to wait for France to come to him. And uncertain as the future may be, for the moment at least France has come.

Early in life he understood that politics was a tough game. In 1929, as the son of a well-to-do Jewish family (14th Century "immigrants" from Portugal), he was wending up his law studies here. He was 22 years old and the president of a small group of students who leaned toward the liberal view and, who called themselves "The Socialist and Republican University Action." One morning the youthful president had the misfortune to run into a group of "Youth Patriots"—a large fascist outfit. In the encounter Mendes-France received a broken nose and narrowly escaped being hurled from a second-story window.

HAVING DECIDED on a political life, however, he stuck to it with devotion. In 1932, to everyone's surprise, he became France's youngest deputy at 25—unseating a gentleman named Alexandre Duval who for years had considered himself the traditional representative from Louviers in the department of Eure. To convince voters of his stability, young Mendes-France put on weight for the election and grew a bristling black mustache. Later, his constituents were horrified to find they had elected a mere boy to represent them.

From the beginning the young man had shown an astonishing aptitude for higher finance. At the age of 19, his doctorate thesis dealt learnedly with "The Stability of the Franc." In 1938 he was named undersecretary of the treasury in the regime of Leon Blum.

Like most prominent Frenchmen today, his career was first rudely interrupted—and later powerfully advanced—by the war.

When the Germans walked in, Mendes-France—then a lieutenant in the air force—took off in the direction of North Africa. He was arrested in Casablanca on a charge of "Deserting the country in time of war," returned to France and sentenced to six years in prison. From the day of his arrival, he plotted escape from the hospital at Lyons where he was interned.

THE CHANCE CAME on June 21, 1941. A few days later, the young air force lieutenant showed up in London, offering his services to the Liberation headquarters of Gen. Charles De Gaulle. Desk jobs were out. He demanded a combat assignment—preferably missions aimed against German targets in France.

"The eternal debate revives," he wrote at the time. "Have we the right to go and bomb the French people? If we don't go, other allied aviators will go in our place. Will they take aim with as much care—with the same unceasing precision?"

In November, 1943, he finally gave in to General De Gaulle and took on the job of commissioner for finance in the North African government-in-exile. The following year, he went to America to take part in the Bretton Woods conference. On his return to Algiers he was named minister of national economy in the provisional government.

About this time, Mendes-France began to show what kind of economist he was. Drawing up plans for full authority to carry out a program of drastic reform. Among his proposals: strict rationing, freezing of wages and salaries, a crackdown on the black market, national service, reform of taxes, confiscation of illegal profits, blocking of accounts and the issuing of new currency. It was too much for a government which included Socialists and Communists to swallow. The Mendes-France program was thrown out in toto and the minister resigned.

IN 1945, HE WAS asked back by Premier Gouin. His program hadn't changed. But in addition to the original reforms he had added some others: no more new currency, increased income taxes, a war on speculators. His "radical"—i.e., middle-of-the-road—friends persuaded him not to join a government containing Communists.

Gradually, the economist's interests were broadening to include other vital French problems. But always the yardstick was the needed for a long time. They believe that France is ready for a new deal based on realism and reform and that the new government holds out the brightest chance of bringing it about.

Transportation Is Big Part of Concert

LENOX, Mass. — (UP) — To provide pianos for the famous musicians, singers and music students attending the Berkshire Festival here this summer, 69 of the massive instruments and an electronic organ were shipped 750 miles from Cincinnati to the festival site at Tanglewood.

Two huge trailer trucks, with their heavily padded cargo make the journey in two and a half days. Since drivers, by regulation, may only be on the road 10 hours a day, the trucks had to maintain a 30-mile an hour average despite occasional traffic tie-ups, stops for lunches and unpredictable weather.

Loading the pianos took 16 hours and 300 heavy double pads, collectively long enough to cover a third of an acre. Raymond Schmidt, 38, a piano-moving expert, supervised a series of complicated maneuvers at the factory in which the pianos are wrapped and stacked on trucks without marring the finish. They had to be tightly taped against inevitable jarring during the long trek.

Registration of Voters Designed To Cut Irregularities in Election

With countywide voter registration required for the first time in Marion County this year, the question is sometimes asked, "why do we have registration?"

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown gives this answer: The purpose of registration is to provide a method of making certain that those who vote in a precinct are actually residents of that precinct and are qualified to vote there.

Where registration has been put into effect, there has been a reduction in election irregularities, his office has found. Modern-day living is vastly different from the "horse and buggy" days and this has affected voting. Brown explains. There was a time when approximately 200 persons lived in a precinct and the election officials serving at the polling place on election day would know everyone who requested ballots.

Today, even in some of the rural areas, and especially in the more populous areas where the population is much more transitory, Brown says the problem of proper identification of voters becomes more acute.

A larger percentage of families move from place to place and has increased so that the average population in many areas precinct of today has 450 voters. In these instances, Brown explains, it is a rare community where the precinct officials know every voter.

Registration is not such a complicated matter as some may think. Brown explains. In order to register, a person goes to the office of the Board of Elections and fills in registration forms which bear his signature.

That person's registration card is sent out to the precinct in which he is entitled to vote on election day, making it easy to

Conscience Money Help for Treasury

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UP) — She told Gov. John S. Fine that her conscience had bothered her ever since she threw some paper on the street in her native Wilkes-Barre.

So she sent $5 to the governor to make amends and save her conscience.

Like all the anonymous gifts of kind for general use, by Pennsylvanians with bothersome memories, the $5 went into the state treasury's "conscience fund" for general use.

In the last quarter of a century nearly $7,000 has been sent to the state treasury or state officials by people who had shortchanged the commonwealth and lost some sleep over it.

One of the smallest "gifts" was five cents sent in to correct a minor tax error.

Last year a "conscientious taxpayer" mailed in a $40 check "because I think I made a mistake in paying an inheritance tax some years ago. This is double the amount because it's delinquent."

A man from Illinois wrote that he was studying for the ministry but was bothered by a debt of $1 he owed the state for gasoline stolen "six or seven years ago from one of the state's road construction vehicles. I have become a Christian since then."

An Ohioan sent a $20 check to cover the cost of materials "I put to my own use when I was working for our commonwealth."

And a Philadelphian mailed the state $10 for "unemployment compensation I owe the state of Pennsylvania. I wish to clear my conscience of it."

The identity of such donors is never revealed even when the sender makes it known.

Sea Water Purified

SAN FRANCISCO (UP) — A device that extracts pure, fresh drinking water from the sea has been constructed at the Los Angeles engineering school of the University of California.

Actually a membrane, the device was developed by Gerald Hassler, who believes a cubic yard of the material can produce 2,000 gallons of fresh water daily. The unit would cost about $1,000 and last 20 years.

The "osmotic oil membrane" was made while Hassler was working under a $10,000 research grant from the Department of Interior's saline water project.

State Hospital Administration Hit by Rhodes

Claims New Buildings Are Not Being Used For Intended Purpose

COLUMBUS, Ohio (U.P.)—State Auditor James A. Rhodes reported today that a new receiving hospital was being used as a dormitory for Athens State Hospital patients. The Republican nominee opposing Democrat Gov. Frank J. Lausche's bid for a fifth term in the Nov. 2 election said that was not the use intended for the receiving hospital. It was built in 1952, he said in a prepared statement. "to receive mental patients, determine the extent of their illness and discover the best possible treatment and therapy for the quickest cure and reclamation." He said expensive hospital equipment is standing idle and deteriorating because the hospital is being used for housing purposes. Rhodes previously claimed that a new surgical unit at Hawthornden

State Hospital between Cleveland and Akron was not being put to its intended use. He made similar claims for the state receiving hospital at Columbus. Dr. John D. Porterfield, head of the new State Department of Mental Hygiene and Corrections, said he was not yet acquainted with the kind or number of patients in the receiving hospital at Athens. He said he planned to make use of the institutions for the purposes for which they were constructed and that he would look into the report by Rhodes.

2 More Education Awards Granted to Seniors in County

Elementary teacher education scholarships have been granted to two more Marion County seniors, County School Superintendent D. T. Mills said today. New recipients of the $500 scholarships are Shirley Ann Seiter, Pleasant High School, and B. Jara Ann Cornette, Harding High. Granting of the additional scholarships gives a total of seven in the county this year. Set up by the Ohio General Assembly, the scholarships are good for two years of educational training if the students become teachers. If not, they are required to return the award.

Autos Collide In Chesterville

One Driver Charged By State Patrolmen

Two cars collided at the intersection of State Routes 95 and 314 in Chesterville Wednesday afternoon, resulting in slight damage to the cars and the arrest of one of the drivers.

State patrolmen from the Marion post, who investigated the accident, said a car driven by George O. Lockwood, 68, of 230 W. Columbia St. and one driven by Raymond S. Dailey, 52, of near Fredericktown collided as the east-bound Dailey tried to make a left turn at the intersection.

They said a traffic light there had just turned green when Dailey started. Lockwood, who was west-bound on 95, failed to see the turning vehicle because of a rise in the road at the intersection.

Slight damage was done to the right rear fender of the Dailey car, while moderate damage was done to the front end of the Lockwood auto. Dailey was issued a citation to appear before Mayor Harold Lane of Chesterville Sunday night. He was charged with failure to yield the right of way.

Gooch, a cook, was arrested for turning in a false alarm and for disorderly conduct. He was fined $10 and costs on each charge.

Col. Schwable Awarded Medal for Korea Service

WASHINGTON (U)—Marine Col. Frank H. Schwable, excused for signing a false germ warfare "confession" while a prisoner of the Reds in Korea, says he has received the Legion of Merit he won before his capture.

A Marine board of inquiry held that Schwable's action in signing the germ warfare confession was "excusable (as) the result of mental torture," and said he should not stand trial before a court-martial. The Marines have said, however, that his future assignments will be limited to those imposing "minimum demands."

Reappraisal All Around

There is a strange commission in comments on last week's strong statements against admitting Communist China to the United Nations by Sen. Knowland and Sen. Johnson, majority and minority leaders of the U.S. Senate.

The commentators all agree that the bipartisan stand of the two men is significant. They concede that a foreign policy debate of great importance to the United States is being warmed up. And they recognize that both Knowland and Johnson are risking bitter quarrels within their parties.

But they do not seem to be willing to recognize that it is not the fate of the United States but the fate of the United Nations that is hanging in the balance.

The United States would still have the strength of its resources and its moral position if it were not associated with the United Nations. But the United Nations would turn into a tattered remnant of hope for international security without the support of the only nation with both the interest and the means to do something about the naked aggression of the Communist bloc.

Sen. Knowland, Sen. Johnson and many others have spoken recently of the need for an "agonizing reappraisal" of foreign policy. Whatever phrase may be used to express this, the idea to be expressed is that existing policies have not slowed down the spreading influence of the Communist conspiracy.

One of the existing policies has been all-out support of the United Nations. This support was given despite misgivings about the ability of the U.N. to reach a state of cooperative security. The United States lately has been made aware that the final and ultimate blow to its confidence would be the admission of Kremlin-sponsored Communist China to U. N. membership by a majority vote of the General Assembly.

American public opinion would not stand for any further support of the United Nations if that happened. There would then be, indeed, a "agonizing reappraisal" of foreign policy. The United Nations buildings on Manhattan Island would have to become another mausoleum for the hope of world peace, like the marble palaces at Geneva.

The United States would get along without the U.N. but the U.N. would collapse without the support of the United States. That might be too high a price for even the Kremlin to pay for getting Red China admitted to membership in an organization which would have ceased to mean anything.

They Made It

There was an interval at the beginning of the haying season this year when haymakers despaired of turning their traditional trick. The sun shone only long enough to tempt them to start but never long enough to enable them to finish.

But conditions improved. The first crop of 1954 hay has been made. It isn't as tough a job as it used to be, before there were balers that could be relied on and before there were choppers.

The time is in sight when these newest machines will take the hazard out of haying. The job won't have to be done "when the sun shines." The chopper can do its job any time.

But first there will have to be a conversion to the theory of chopped forage. There will continue to be much to say for baled hay, for the new wrinkle of rolled hay and even for the old wrinkle of loose hay stacked high in a mow.

For one thing, there is no substitute for the perfume of an airy barn filled with aromatic hay — the magic of summertime reduced to its sweet essence and recaptured anew on bleak winter evenings next January and February when the mangers have been freshly filled and the customers are munching last June's clover tops.

Maine Likes Mrs. Smith

The total failure of Robert L. Jones to make a dent in Maine's rock-ribbed loyalty to Sen. Margaret Chase Smith in the Republican primary last Monday had been predicted so confidently by every observer on the scene there is no news in her lopsided victory.

There does seem to be a moral in it, however. Politicians are born, not made, and some are born females.

Mrs. Smith received about 4,000 more votes in 1948 when she first ran in the senatorial primaries than her three opponents combined. One of these was the governor of Maine. In the November election, she then proceeded to run her Democratic rival for the senatorship into the ground.

After that, no one was inclined to take Mrs. Smith lightly in her role as a politician who knows how to handle herself in Maine and in the U.S. Senate. She learned as a teacher, a newspaper reporter and a businesswoman what her constituents like. As a member of Congress — she served three terms in the House of Representatives before switching to the Senate — she has suited most of the voters in Maine.

The changing issues of the day have had little to do with her popularity. Maine likes Mrs. Smith for herself.

Fine Point of Law

By David Lawrence

Three Branches of Government Entirely Separate

Absence from the country during the McCarthy-Stevens hearings did not permit a study of the testimony at the time by this writer, but an examination since of the many comments made in letters and public statements concerning the constitutional rights involved in a portion of the controversy leads to the impression that there is a widespread misunderstanding as to what is the settled law of the land concerning the relations of the executive and legislative branches of the government.

The rather widely publicized theory that a United States Senate committee would be doing something illegal if it obtained from an employee of the executive branch of the government information which the employee himself is forbidden to disclose, and used the data — was demolished by the U.S. Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia. It was never overruled by the Supreme Court of the United States.

Judge Groner who spoke for a unanimous court of appeals in November 1936 noted in his opinion that the Federal Communications Commission and the Senate committee investigating lobbying had been accused of conspiring to violate the provisions of the Constitution relating to unlawful search and seizure and to the freedom of the press.

What was at issue was an order served on the Western Union Telegraph Co. to produce messages passing between the head of a group of newspapers and some of his associates in other cities. It was asserted by the telegraph company that the messages were confidential and that it would be a violation of federal law to disclose them.

THE FCC ORDERED it done and the messages were turned over to Hugo Black, then Democratic senator from Alabama, who was chairman of the Senate's Investigating Committee and who not long afterward was appointed to the Supreme Court of the United States by President Roosevelt. Mr. Black is a member of the high court now and as a senator would not have knowingly committed an illegal act.

Judge Groner ruled that the telegraph company should not have surrendered the messages for the purpose of any disclosure of their contents and that the FCC, while having a right to examine them, did not have any right to transmit them to the Senate committee.

The court of appeals said: "We are of the opinion that the resolution adopted by the Commission, under which its agents took possession of the telegraph company's offices and examined wholesale the thousands of private telegraph messages received and dispatched there from over a period of seven months — for the purpose of securing to the Senate committee knowledge of the contents of the messages — was without authority of law and contrary to the very terms of the act under which the commission was constituted."

WHEN IT CAME to defining the rights of Sen. Black or his investigating committee, the U.S. Court of Appeals held that the courts were without power to interfere. It said: "The prayer of the bill (of complaint) is that the committee be restrained from keeping the messages or making any use of them or disclosing their contents. In other words, that if we find that the method adopted to obtain the telegrams was an invasion of appellant's legal rights, we should say to the committee and to the Senate that the contents could not be disclosed or used in the exercise by the Senate of its legitimate functions."

"We know of no case in which it has been held that a court of equity has authority to do any of these things. On the contrary, the universal rule, so far as we know it, is that the legislative discretion in discharge of its constitutional functions, whether rightfully or wrongfully exercised, is not a subject for judicial interference."

"The Constitution has lodged the legislative power exclusively in the Congress. If a court could say to the Congress that it could use or could not use information in its possession, the independence of the legislature would be destroyed and the constitutional separation of the powers of government invaded. Nothing is better settled than that each of the three great departments of government shall be independent and not subject to be controlled directly or indirectly by either of the others."

SO THE CASE boils down to the fact that while a president of the United States may forbid any employee in the executive branch from furnishing information to Congress and may fire the employee with or without giving any reasons, this does not mean that a senator or representative — who encourages an employee to risk his job by furnishing information to Congress in violation of the orders of his superior — is himself necessarily involved in any violation of law.

The court went further and said that even if information unconstitutionally acquired is disclosed in debate or discussion, the Senate committee cannot be enjoined against its use.

At the same time the court, expressing the pious hope that Senate committees wouldn't damage the rights of the citizens by such use, admitted it was only a hope — not a means of legal coercion.

Block That Precedent!

By TRUMAN TWILL

A high court ruling in New York state recommends that a marriage which has lasted 13 years be annulled because the man concealed the fact he was a Communist.

He now is in a federal prison, serving up to 10 years for admitting he was guilty of spying for the Soviet Union. This occurred after his marriage.

Before his marriage, the intended bride's father had quizzed her intensively about her boy friend's politics, but he judged the truth when she demanded a straight answer.

This, ruled the New York court, constituted deception, and deception constituted cause for annulment. It is an interesting ruling.

No one is going to question that concealment of Communist affiliation was unjustifiable under the circumstances, although even the United States had a kind of affiliation with these people after they and the Nazis began to fight each other in 1941, a few days before the marriage in question.

What makes this ruling worthy watching is the possibility it may set a precedent about ideological concealment as grounds for annulling marriages.

Many a man who has married in good faith a charming dolly who later turned out to be an advocate of free silver has brooded about taking his problem to the court but has hesitated because there was no precedent.

Women with socialistic leanings and woots - goofs ideas about splitting up the loot according to the needs of the individual have been disenfranchised by realizing too late they vowed to love, honor and obey crusty, unprogressive feudal barons with reactionary ideas in politics.

The doctrine of common ownership of the tools of production has cropped out innumerable times in families, to the consternation of American heiresses who married playboys and of American fathers who were reduced to taking the boss because their children and their own wives never would let them drive their automobiles.

While it may be assumed that in common practice most brides and grooms hash over these matters before they enter into wedlock, many are too busy hashing over more important things like the stars, moon and the asking advice of cottages small by a waterfall.

They never get around to clearing the ideological decks. When you stop to think about it, there are instances of men and women who have been married in the good old U.S.A. without ever finding out in advance whether they were Republicans or Democrats.

This might not constitute grounds for annulment when the ugly truth finally leaked out. It is not like being a Communist in secret. But when courts make rulings like this one, they scare a year's growth off a fellow who has been trying to live down an error of his youth.

Rather than wait for courts to come to time and to take me away in the wagon, I will clear my conscience here and now.

I once had leanings toward Bull Moosers, those crazy wild men who lined up back of trust - busting Teddy Roosevelt. This never has come out before. But rather than risk the annulment of an otherwise happy marriage by concealing an ugly defection, there it is. Put me in the wagon, boys, and take me away.

Tell the wife and kiddies to turn my picture to the wall.

Marion County History Brevities

By EDNA S. DUTTON

The contract for the present Marion County Courthouse was let to Leffler & Bland, local contractors, on Jan. 3, 1894, for slightly more than $98,000. Eventually the cost was about $115,000.

Work was begun at once by removing the old Courthouse and on July 4, 1894, the granite cornerstone was laid amid imposing and appropriate ceremonies. Mayor C. P. Gailey was president of the day. The program began at 1:15 p.m. with an invocation by Rev. S. D. Bates.

Target Practice

By BILL VAUGHAN

It should be made clear that when Congress is asked to appropriate $103,725 to "maintain public order" during the American Legion convention in Washington no implication that Legionnaires are ever disorderly is intended. It's just that sometimes the decorum becomes so intense it can ruin a hotel lobby.

Shade of Night Could Fall—

Junior's Feet Becoming Larger

By John F. Sembower

CHICAGO.

If Junior's feet seem unusually large, it's probably not anyone's imagination. According to the nation's shoe buyers gathered in Chicago to stock up on footwear for coming months, America's feet are getting bigger.

Diet does it, say some of the experts. People are eating better than ever before and growing more, and this is reflected in an increase of a full size in the average of shoes sold during an interval of only the last 10 years.

A trend toward more comfort and less vanity also deserves credit, the fitters say. The woman who wears a 7 1/2 B now is average, and the average man wears an 8 1/2 D to a 9 D.

Fewer women try to squeeze into a pump that's too small for them, and the tiny foot — the coveted female goal of a generation ago — has lost its appeal, according to the shoe men.

The "sensible heel," one and three-fourths inches high, no longer is reserved for "teen-agers, schoolteachers, and maiden aunts," according to the men who stock up the shoe stores, but rapidly is becoming the favorite.

SUCH TRENDS win the hearty endorsement of Dr. Amiel Caplan of New York University's Institute for Physical Medicine, who reports that sore feet still are costing industry, throughout the United States an estimated 100 million dollars yearly.

The "perfect fit" is a relative thing, shoe manufacturers admit. They point out that shoes are built on the basis of standard lasts, which are wood reproductions of typical foot sizes. Since no two feet are alike, however, and most persons have one foot that is considerably larger than the other, it always will be necessary to break in shoes by actually wearing them.

The industry is proud, however, that it has achieved widespread standardization of sizes. To speak the language of sizes you need to know that lengths are measured in thirds of an inch, widths with each letter representing one-sixteenth of an inch, and heights of women's heels are measured in eighths of an inch, the so-called "sensible heel" being the 1-4-8 heel.

AN ESTIMATED 500,000,000 shoes will be produced in the United States this year. An expert used to take two days to make a pair by hand, but machines now help him make an average of four a day in quality production and eight to ten per day in lower-grade shoes.

There still are about 150 separate operations in making a shoe, however, many of them done by hand. About 60 per cent of the shoes built this year will have soles of leather-substitute materials. However, lower leather prices are putting it into more shoes than in recent years.

The so-called "bare minimum shoe" favored by women recently with open toes and strapping is giving way to more covering, the stylists report. Men's shoes always are considered less "fashionish," and brown, which has been the dominant color for 25 years, still is heavily in the majority over black.

Boys and girls increasingly are demanding shoes that are modeled after dad's and mother's. The junior trade looms larger every year, with foot authorities now advocating shoes for youngsters just as soon as they can walk and new pairs being required on an average of every four to six months. Americans continue to be the best shod people in the world. In Europe the wooden shoe known as a sabot still is worn widely, and not just in Holland either. The clog, or wooden-soled shoe, also still has many wearers, including Britons in the midland counties.

MODERN STYLES are considered very conservative, historically speaking. The Egyptians wore gold shoes 4,500 years ago, and colors were riotous in the French court of Louis XIV. Men once wore so vain that they stood in barrels of cold water for an hour to shrink themselves into thigh-length boots.

Shoe clerks are being urged to concentrate this year on good fits, both to conserve customers and feet. Finding capable young salesmen is considered a major problem. They generally work on a commission basis of from 7 to 10 per cent of the retail price, and weekly earnings average from $90 to $150.

A phenomenon of the industry is that shapes of feet seem to vary with sections of the country, the average Chicagoan having a longer and narrower foot than New Yorkers. Throughout the country, however, Saturday continues to be the day when most people buy new shoes.

Another Old, Old Man

By MARK DANA

Anthropologists are all excited, and doing their best to make the rest of us excited, over a skull fished out of a water hole in Texas — a skull of a man who, they calculate, lived 12,000 years ago during the ice age, which apparently was much cooler than our present July.

The Folsom Man was relatively a newcomer, living (if one calls it living) about 10,000 years ago, but after 25 years of searching precious few parts of Mr. Folsom have been located. Most of him seems to have gone with the wind.

Maybe philosophers can explain why ancient skulls are found here and there — that is, human skulls — but few other essential component parts. Contrarily, scientific diggers uncover thigh bones or toes or ribs of ancient animals, and after measuring these carefully make their own skulls out of plaster of paris.

They (the scientists, of course) are so adept at these things, they can find a bone from the hoof of a dinosaur, and presently have a full skeleton mounted in a museum, complete with dates.

It is too bad, of course, that the Pitdown Man whose bones were all the rage for a long time among British scientists, has turned out to have been fixed up by a prankster out of an ape's cranium and a few miscellaneous parts. The genuineness and antiquity of the Pitdown Man for years were so trusted that some British genealogists were about to trace some old families back to him, probably fixing up a coat of arms.

The drawings of the Folsom Man, occasionally seen in schoolbooks, inspire no yearning to climb his family tree, and it's likely that much older guy who lost his head in the Texas water hole, perhaps in a cattle roundup staged by a Hollywood movie studio, probably was even worse-looking, and hasn't improved much in 120 centuries of lying there.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Joe Doakes and Dr. Oppenheimer

The holiday weekend gave Joe Doakes, a little time to reflect on the recent four-to-one verdict denying security clearance to Dr. Robert Oppenheimer. (He remained a little uncertain whether this was the final or semi-final verdict.) However, these questions kept annoying him:

1. How could there be such slow motion as this in a field of atomic speed?
2. How can you bar from top atomic secrets a man who is loaded with all the top atomic secrets?
3. How secure is our present state of security when a man who had so much to do with it is barred as a security risk for performances when he was directing Uncle Sam's security?

Mr. Doakes likes to feel that any headman in "Operation Security" has never known a day when he could admire the Communist line, picnic with commies, give a plugged dime to a commie cause or lunch in Paris with a man pretty well identified as a Red leader.

Doakes has never given a commie the right time. He has trouble understanding those who have been palsy-walsy, at any time or any place under any conditions. But it is when he takes a gander at the dissenting verdict by the one scientist member of the "jury," Dr. Henry D. Smyth, that Mr. Doakes calls for the aspirin and cries, "It must be some sumpin' I ate."

Believe it or not, Dr. Smyth uses words like "reprehensible conduct," "unexcusable" and "belated report of attempted espionage" against Dr. Oppenheimer, and yet concludes that it "leaves a picture of Dr. Oppenheimer as an able imaginative human being with normal human weaknesses." Brother, how normal can your human weaknesses get in the atomic war age?

But you ain't heard nuthin' yet. Dr. Smyth adds, "Persistent and long association with Communists, since they have been limited since the war, are nothing but the occasional incidents of a complex life." We thought we had heard everything ever offered in defense of lads who had been somewhat palsy-walsy with the party liners!

If Dr. Smyth hasn't taken your breath away by this time, he comes up with the declaration that the security system shouldn't be taken too much to heart, anyhow, and says that if a man "misunderstands his obligations to a security system (even on a job that means the difference between life and death for millions) it is nothing but an error, calling for reproof, not dishonor."

There is still more, bub. "With respect to the alleged disregard of the security system I would suggest that the system itself is nothing to worship," says the scientist in his dissenting opinion. Omigod! Pardon, Joe Doakes, Doctor, if on the brink of an abyss he shows a little worship of security.

And going back to that "nothing but an error" crack, Doctor, the error column these days can mean costly hits and runs. But are you talking of baseball or a fight for survival? Huh?

Joe Doakes hasn't any doubt whatever about Dr. Oppenheimer's loyalty. But as he reasons it, a man can be 100 per cent loyal and, on his past performances, not be the best man to sit on a top job when a slight mistake of judgment of some pressure out of the past might make for disaster.

Joe is no "brain." He skipped the science classes even in grade school. He doesn't know much. But he has horse sense. And has a fear of errors in a world gone mad.

Bill Benton, himself a top advertising man, says "TV is giving signs of being musclebound" and is "following radio down the road to trivialization." When you talk like that, smile, Bill.

In Yellowknife, Northwest Territory, the radio station has no regular or professional talent. This wipes out all jokes about Liberace, references to Jack Benny's tightness or gags about Hope and Crosby.

Sen. Mundt rang a bell again with this one the other day: "Congressional committees have made mistakes in hunting Communists in our government but the executive branch mistake of letting so many into our government was far worse."

Title for a book on reducing: "Going my WEIGH."

Security Veto Not Enough

U.S. To Need Aid To Keep Red Chinese Out of U.N.

By JAMES MARLOW
 WASHINGTON (AP) — This is an ABC on how the United States can try to keep Red China out of the United Nations.
 When the U.N. was created at war's end, Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalists were the government of China. As such, they were given U.N. membership. At that time the Chinese Communists were a minority group, not a government.

 Later they drove Chiang off the mainland to the island of Formosa. He set up shop there, claiming his was still the real government of all China. The Reds, occupying all the mainland, said they were the government.

17 Grant Recognition

The United States, refusing to recognize the Reds, has supported Chiang with arms and money. But 17 of the U.N.'s 60 member nations — including Britain, Russia, India, the Netherlands — have recognized Red China.

The U.N. has two main bodies: Security Council and General Assembly. All 60 U.N. members sit in the Assembly. 11 also sit in the council. Chiang's Nationalists sit in both council and Assembly.
 The council is in continuous session. The Assembly meets at intervals. It doesn't meet again until Sept. 21. The fight over Red China, when and if it comes in 1954, is almost certain to be in the Assembly, not in the council.

The council and the Assembly operate more or less independently of each other and have different voting rules. In both places, this year at least, the United States appears now to have enough friendly votes to keep Red China out.

Opposing Rulings

But this could happen: the Assembly might out the Nationalists and seat Red China while the Security Council blocked Red China and let the Nationalists keep their seat.

Take the Assembly first:

Say someone moves to seat Red China. The United States could ask the vote on this motion be postponed. The decision would be by a simple majority of the 60 Assembly members. The United States might have enough friendly votes to win even on a majority test.

But suppose it loses on this vote. That doesn't mean Red China walks in. If the majority voted against postponing a vote, the United States could invoke Article 18 of the U.N. Charter when the actual vote on seating Red China came up.

This says that on any "important" question like seating a new member, Assembly approval must be by a two-thirds vote. All the United States would need then would be one third of the votes, plus one, to keep Red China out. It could probably do that.

Argument Possible

But Russia could argue that Article 18 does not apply because China is already a member and that the only issue was whether to seat the Communists instead of the Nationalists. If the Assembly agreed with this view, and held Article 18 did not apply, a simple majority would decide whether to admit Red China. The United States might run into trouble on that.

Now take the Security Council: Five of its 11 members are permanent: the United States, Britain, France, China, Russia. The other six, elected from the Assembly, hold their seats on a rotating basis. At present the six are Brazil, Colombia, Turkey, Lebanon, Denmark and New Zealand.

The council votes on two kinds of questions: (a) procedural (or minor), like setting up a committee to study something and (b) substantive (very important), like telling both sides in a war to stop shooting and withdraw.

Any substantive question, like letting Red China into the Security Council, can be killed by any one of the five permanent members with a simple veto. The United States and Nationalist China, both on the council, would cast vetoes.

Procedural Matter

So Russia is never likely to agree that membership for Red China is a substantive question. Instead, if it brings the question up in the Security Council at all it is almost certain to try to make it a procedural matter.

The U.N. Charter provides for no veto on a procedural question, which can be approved if 7 of the 11 council members vote for it. But the Communists could hardly win that way now because of the council's makeup.

Since 7 of the 11 votes would be necessary to seat Red China, the United States could block that if it could round up five votes against. It seems to have those five votes now, but may not have that much strength next year after new temporary council members are chosen.

Council Okays Budget Plans For Crestline

CRESTLINE — Village Council approved a budget for 1955 which provides $76,663 for the general fund at a meeting Tuesday night.

The proposed budget was accepted in a motion by Council after it was presented by the clerk, Marie Schill.

The budget also sets aside three-tenths of a mill each for the policemen's and firemen's pension funds and $4,500 for the bond retirement fund. A public hearing of the budget will be held at the July 19 meeting of Council.

Council accepted Mayor Nelson Lee's report of fines for the month of June amounting to $1,116.05. At the request of the Board of Public Affairs, the Council passed a resolution increasing the water sewage rate 10 per cent over the prevailing rate to all users outside the corporation limits.

Robert Mattox was granted permission to erect a sign at his new furniture store on the corner of Seltzer and North Sts. with the provision that the sign be five feet from the ground. Harry Matthews was given permission to drain water from his roof into the alley.

Persons desiring to have alleys oiled are requested to apply to the village clerk by July 15 and deposit $5.50 which will allow for 150 feet of the oil application.

The traffic light at the intersection of W. Main and Thomas Sts. was reported ready for operation as soon as the division engineer requests it. Bills allowed and ordered paid amounted to $5,382.16.

Truck Helps Blacksmith Cover Dwindling Route

PHILADELPHIA — (UP)—John Di Felice has a virtual monopoly in his particular line of work, but he keeps going only by using "the enemy."

Di Felice owns a blacksmith shop reputed to be the only one in this area.

The 62-year-old blacksmith can look back to better times when the horse was the prime means of transportation and there were scores of smithies with plenty of work. But Di Felice sadly admits the automotive age is finally destroying the last vestiges of the past.

When he first started in the business, Di Felice said about 15 horses were shod daily in the shop. Now he gets only four or five horses a day from hucksters and those who own ponies and sell rides to children for 10 cents. Most of the hoeshoeing is done on nearby farms with a portable blacksmith shop which is on a motor truck.

Chips of Independence Hall Timbers Available

PHILADELPHIA — (UP)—Members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars who wish to take home a memento from the national convention here in August will have full approval to acquire a piece of old Independence Hall.

The souvenir is a chip of wood from the timbers used in the original construction of the building in 1732. The timbers were removed when the hall was reconstructed in 1897.

The chips, with affidavits of authenticity, have been mounted on plaques for distribution and sale at veterans' posts before and during the convention.

Officer's Memory For Faces Leads To Murder Arrest

BOSTON (U)—Because of a detective's memory for faces, Jacob Heim, 21, of Boston, was in custody today on a murder charge.

Police Capt. Francis Sliney said Heim admitted fatally knifing Donald Ensell, 26, of Jefferson, Ohio, a truck driver, in an early morning street fight yesterday at Tremont and Warrenton Sts. Sliney said Heim told him the fight started after Ensell made insulting remarks to Heim and two friends.

Special officer Thomas F. Cunningham's memory solved the case. He read a description of the knife wielder and recalled that a man of the same description was with a juvenile he had questioned early on July 4. Cunningham located the juvenile and got from him the name and address of his companion.

Ensell was stabbed seven times, once in the heart, with a pen knife. The weapon was recovered from a sewer.
